Students perfect their skills through the arts

Valhalla was the great hall of the Norse Vikings where they prepared for battle, feasted, and amused themselves. The building itself was huge, with 540 doors through which 800 people could pass at one time. Princeton High School is the great hall for our own Vikings. It, too, has many doors through which students may pass by means of hard work and determination.

The most important function of Valhalla was to provide a place for the great Vikings to perfect their skills and to learn new ones. The most important function of Princeton High School is to provide a place for students to acquire skills and enlarge their minds. Here they can learn to develop their intellect—to train and prepare themselves for life.

The way of life for these ancient Vikings was one of constant battling and fighting, and at Valhalla they worked hard to meet their obligations in this life. We, as youth, must learn the responsibilities that we must shoulder as we enter adulthood. At Princeton High School we are given the chance, on a smaller scale, to accept these responsibilities. When we are ready to leave through Princeton's open doors as the four senior class officers on the front page are, we will have some idea of what is expected of us as we take our places in the world.

Bill Roberts finds Princeton's reading program helpful in perfecting his skills in reasoning and logic.

The band is a fine example of how the students develop and perfect their skills in the arts.

Mark Edmonds finds the Art Department very convenient for increasing his interest and ability in painting.

The foreign language laboratory offers students an opportunity to become fluent in the languages.

Mrs. Graff becomes the victim of Gail Sank's experiments in blood testing.

Mr. Akers and Mr. Sullivan discuss the damage done to an amplifier which will be repaired by the projectionists.

Students gain experience . . .

Health classes help students understand the workings of their bodies and minds. They learn constructive ways to solve their problems and how to adjust to various situations. Seniors learn the responsibilities and problems they will face when they leave high school.

All students train their bodies for muscular endeavors through physical education classes. A great variety of sports and activities is taught, and the students learn the value of muscular coordination and team work.

The Home Economics Department teaches girls valuable lessons on the art of home making. They gain skills in cooking, sewing, management, and many others.

Business Education enables students to acquire Exercises which build up the body are necessary for health.

In home economics the girls learn to handle domestic problems such as caring for small children.

necessary in the outside world

skills needed for the business world. Typing, shorthand, and clerical practice are among the courses offered.

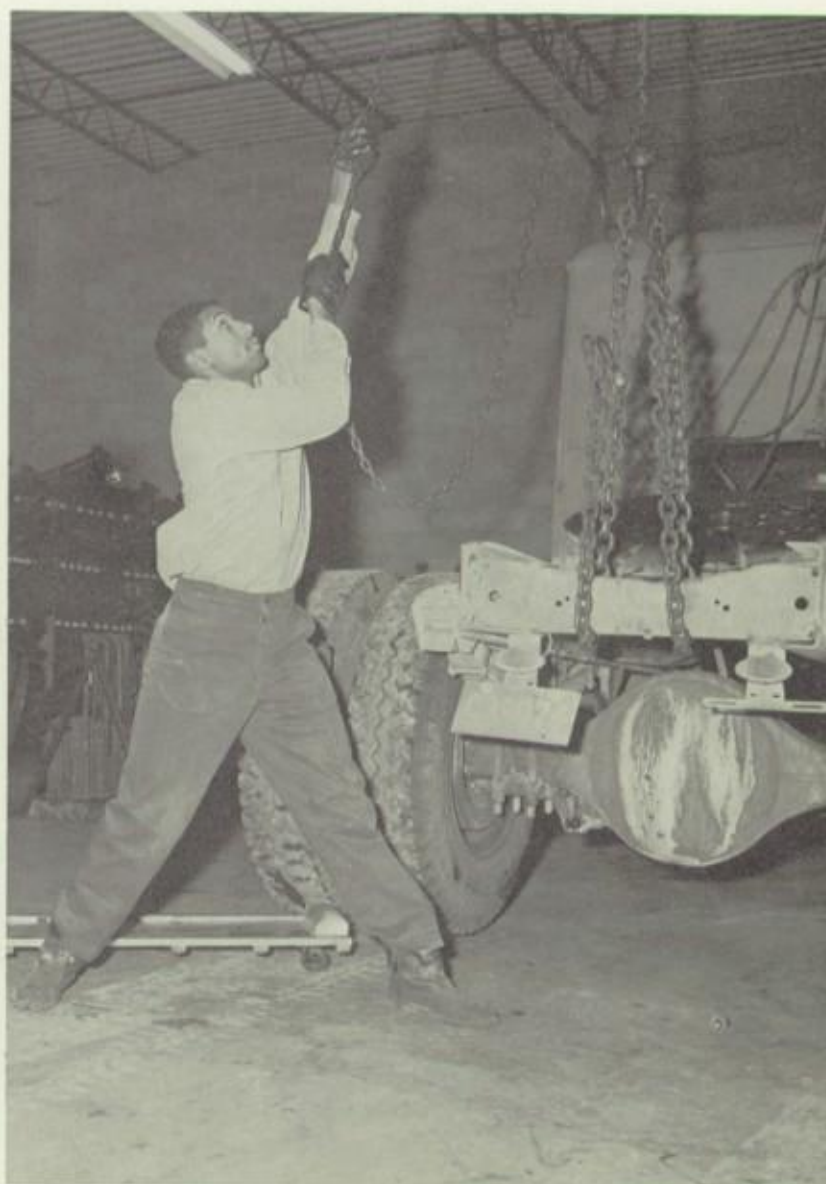

Many students also gain experience by performing practical duties around the school.

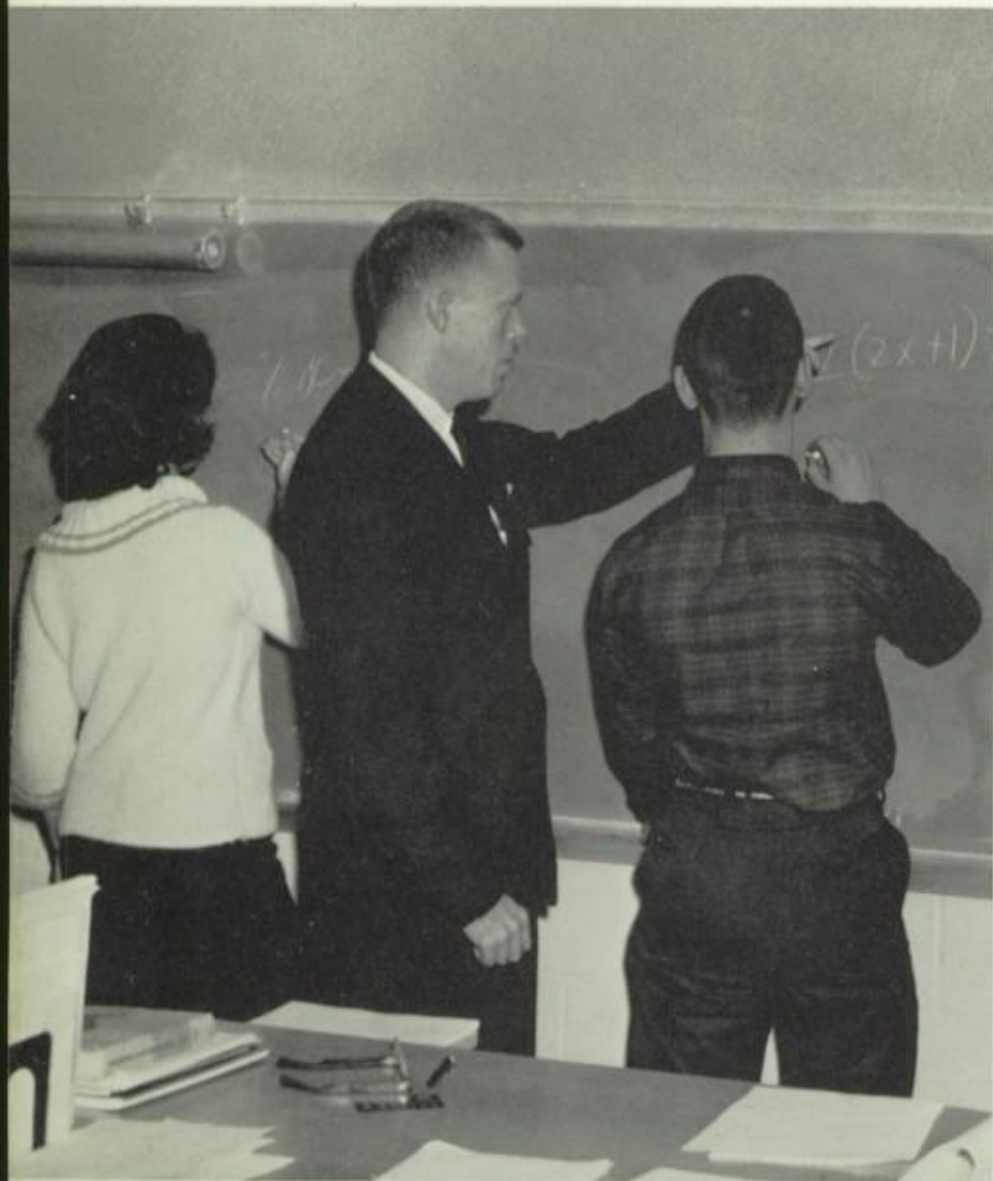

Teachers have a variety of equipment available to them to help teach class. Students also learn to operate these visual aids.

Sherry Messer finds that learning shorthand in Mrs. Carter's class is useful in later life as well as interesting.

Alfred Love works in an automobile repair shop as part of his special education course.

Mr. McDevitt instructs a student in the proper method to solve an inequality.

At Princeton High School, we are able to peek into the complex world of numbers, geometric shapes, trigonometric functions, and algebraic equations. The math courses offered cover the basic fundamentals of mathematics all the way to the complex study of calculus.

The Princeton Vikings can really challenge their minds through the various science courses. All of these subjects heighten the students' awareness of the world around them. If a student is particularly interested in one field of science, he may pursue this study in science seminar class.

Conditions have drastically changed since the time of the original Vikings. We are living in a very fast and complex period of history. We need to learn the mistakes and merits of the past to apply to our future. We also need to be aware of the happenings of today in our small world. At Princeton's Valhalla we are able to do this through social science classes. We learn of the complex problems we must face and the responsibilities we must shoulder when we are ready to assume adult places in the world.

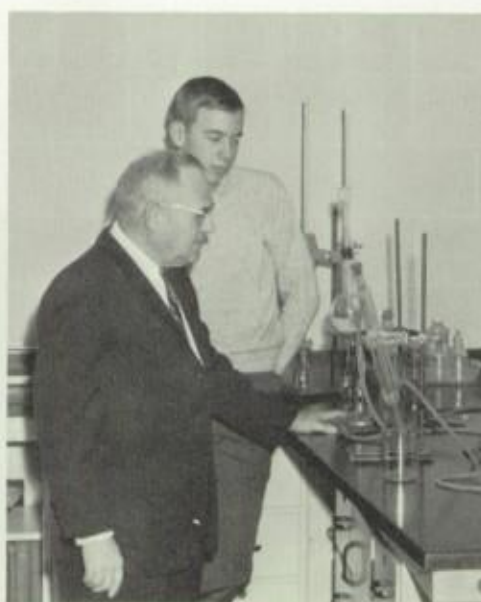

The hands are just as important as the mind. We at Princeton High School are given the chance to develop the skills of our hands through the applied arts program. We learn to operate various machines, and we produce many worthwhile, useful items.

Skills of the mind and hands

Mr. Mosteller demonstrates the principle of the gyroscope to a group of his physics students.

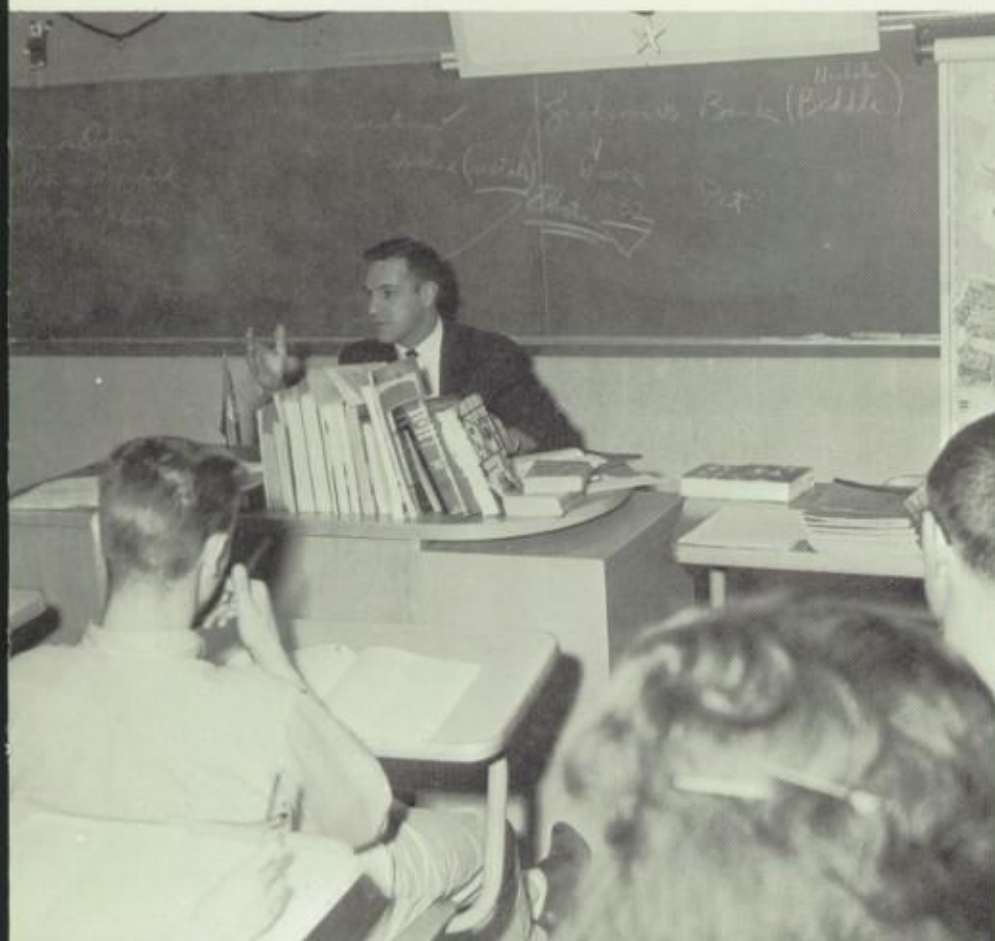

Mr. Kester aids David Haffner in the distillation of salt water.

Mr. Leming points out to Bruce Berring the safety precautions necessary in using the table saw.

Chuck Haverland, Roger Whitson, and Claude Warren use the photo enlarger in the graphic arts department.

Mr. Gilbert adjusts the radial drill for Jim Mahan and Leon Hughes.

Early arriver, Curtis Smith, waits out the long few minutes for the doors to open.

Students find the lounge convenient while waiting for the first buses to arrive.

The first bus arrives, and the students slowly make their way to their homerooms.

Each day starts the same, yet it is different . . .

Neither snow nor rain nor hail can stop the students of Princeton.

Buses halt in front of Princeton, and the Vikings pour out. Another day is beginning.

First, we make some purchases at the bookstore in order to be prepared for class. Then we stop at our lockers to retrieve the books we'll need.

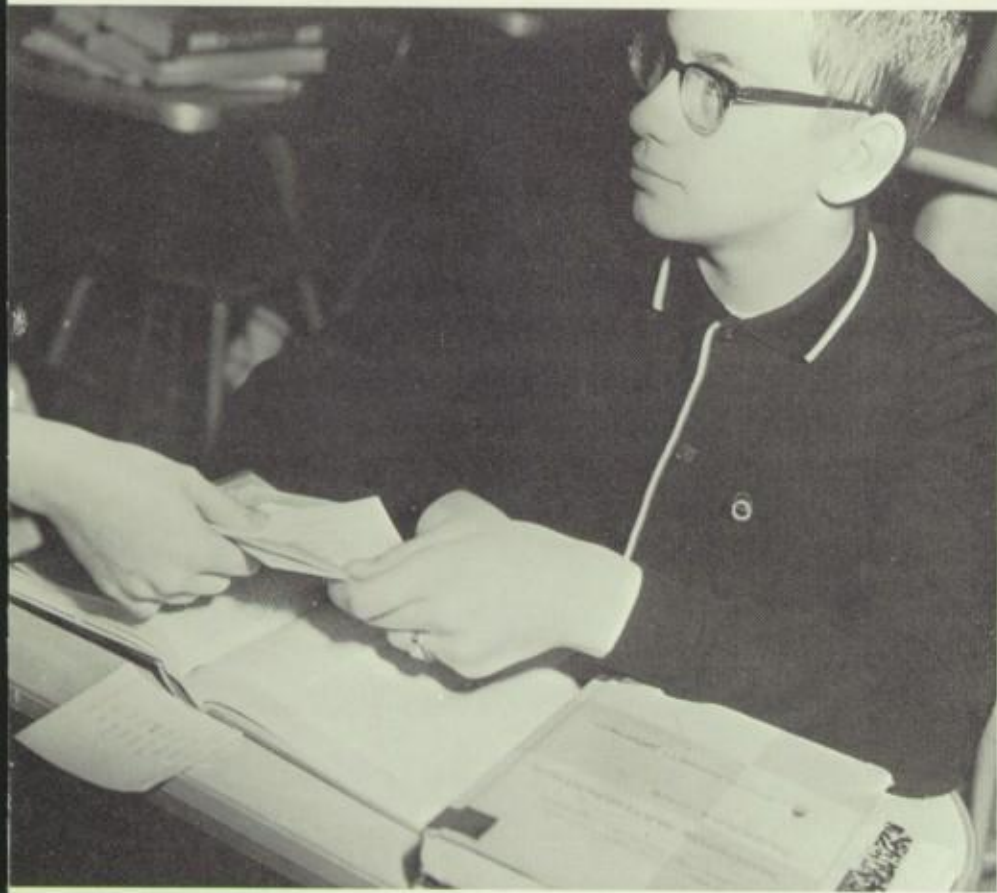

Perhaps we have something to discuss with an admired teacher, for a strong relationship between many teachers and students exists.

Minutes can be precious, and the time taken by waiting for homeroom to begin can be spent studying an assignment.

nouncements are read. Mentally, we make note of items pertaining to us.

Bells sound, and the halls are instantly packed with students. There is just enough time for a quick hello to friends.

Not all students have classes all six periods. Some have a study hall where they do some homework or take a quick rest.

Perhaps those students were resting for an upcoming debate in American history. Students learn the value of quick wit and ready responses through debating.

Study hall in the dining room gives the students time to study or rest up for the next class.

Some days are highlighted by special assemblies, such as a performance by the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra.

The halls during a change in class are similar to a freeway during rush hour.

A rousing debate in Mr. Kirkwood's American history class is the result of much research and preparation by the students.

Some hair-raising things are seen at the science assembly with the aid of Jane Thompson.

Two students take advantage of a student council project and purchase paperback books from a student council worker.

Valuable lessons are learned . . .

Students also serve as visitor guides at the information desk in the main lobby.

There are so many different ways for interested students to learn valuable lessons.

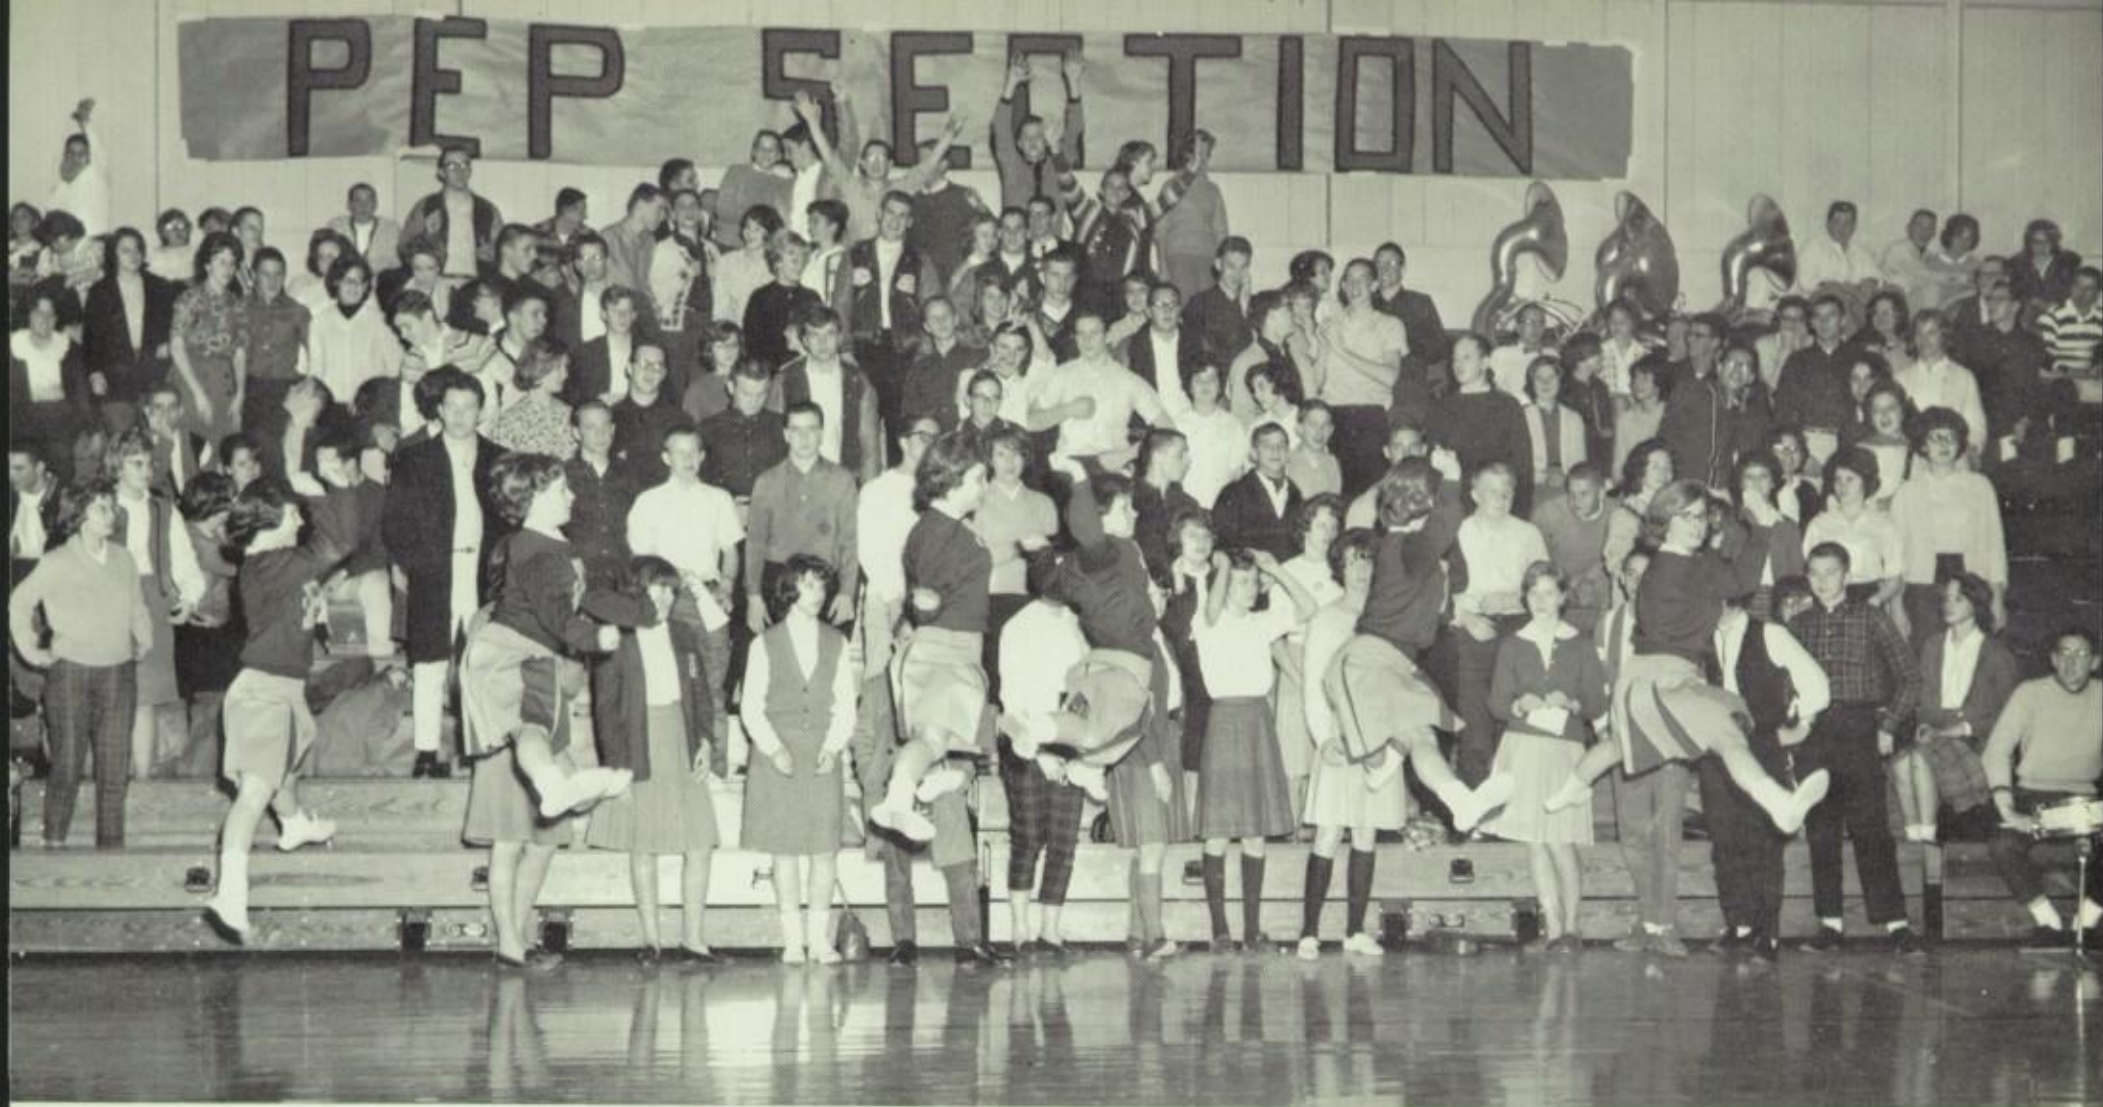

First, assemblies offer us the chance to hear guest speakers in various fields of study. Some of us learn the mannerisms of a receptionist when we serve as student guides for visitors. All students learn the art of dining while in the beautiful Princeton cafeteria. The entire school catches the idea of loyalty and team spirit at the lively pep assemblies. Students also learn of the complex system of election and government through Student Council and class officer duties.

Yes, at the close of the day we are one step farther towards reaching our goal of mature, responsible adulthood.

The close of school reveals varied student reactions: sighs of relief, joyous cries, or tired expressions.

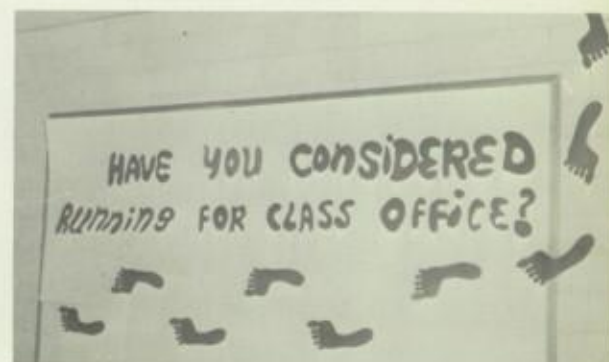

What's this? A monster on the loose?

Or maybe it's a practical joke?

That explains it.

It's only Tom, Pat, and Sam with a student council promotion for election of class officers.

Barb Timmer and Gayle Dykes spend their leisure time as volunteers in a greater Cincinnati hospital.

Leisure-time activities can be fun

All the time spent at Princeton's Valhalla is not used for academic conquests in the classroom. Students learn important lessons by practical experience. They also need leisure time to relax and enjoy the companionship of friends.

The football players know the importance of relaxation. Classroom work and football practice use the mind and body muscles to the utmost point. They need to refresh themselves.

Athletes are not the only ones that use body power. Stagecrafters find they also need it in taking care of scenery, lighting, curtains, and anything else connected with performances on the stage. They also learn valuable technical procedures.

One event that is both educational and fun is elections. We all are able to participate in this. Parties meet, write platforms, endorse candidates, and help them campaign. This way we learn about the democratic method of choosing officials. This experience will prove profitable when we become adults. After elections, the new student council officers meet to plan some of the following year's activities.

The stagecrafters spend their leisure time on important projects behind the scenes of the plays and other performances.

Some of those planned activities will be dances. There are always several dances on the school calendar, and these are important in our school life.

School is not the only main institution in our lives. We engage in many activities in our home also. However, some of these are carried over from our school life.

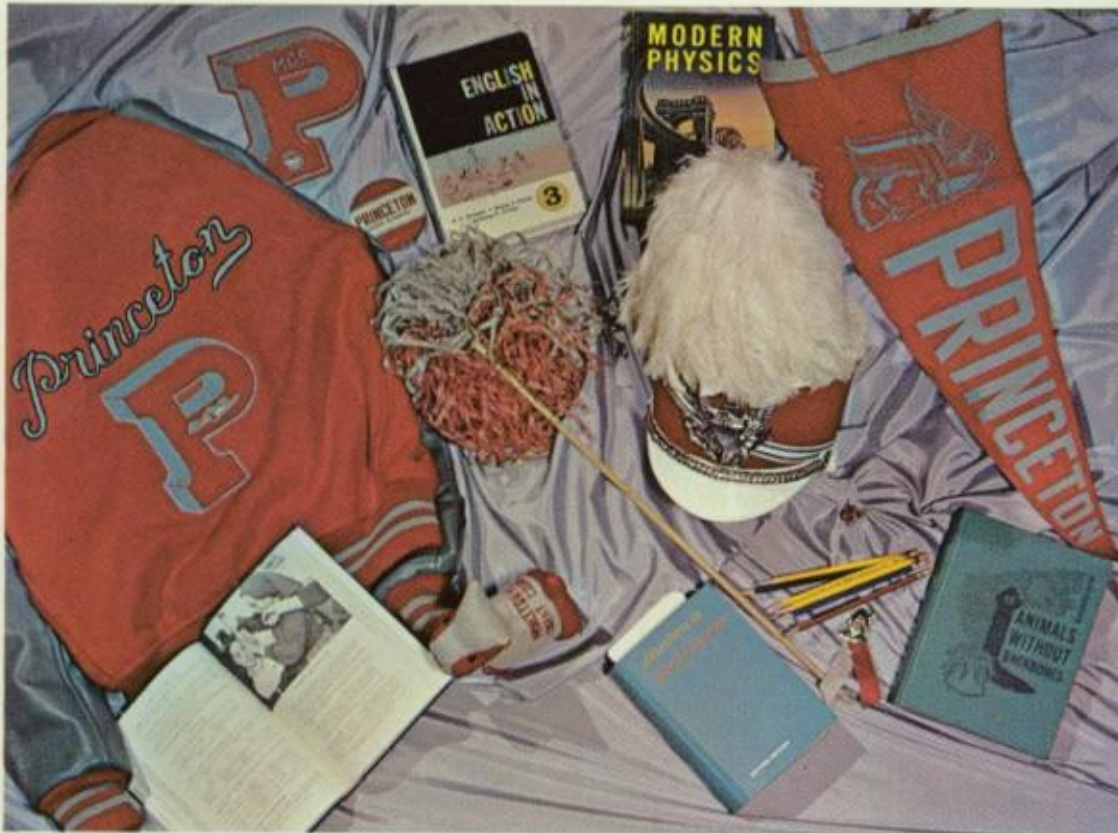

Spring brings with it the annual election of student council officers for the coming year.

Sara Salvato aids Jeff Kirst in crowning Linda Lownsdale the queen of the Latin club dance.

Throughout the year many items become very familiar to the students at Princeton.

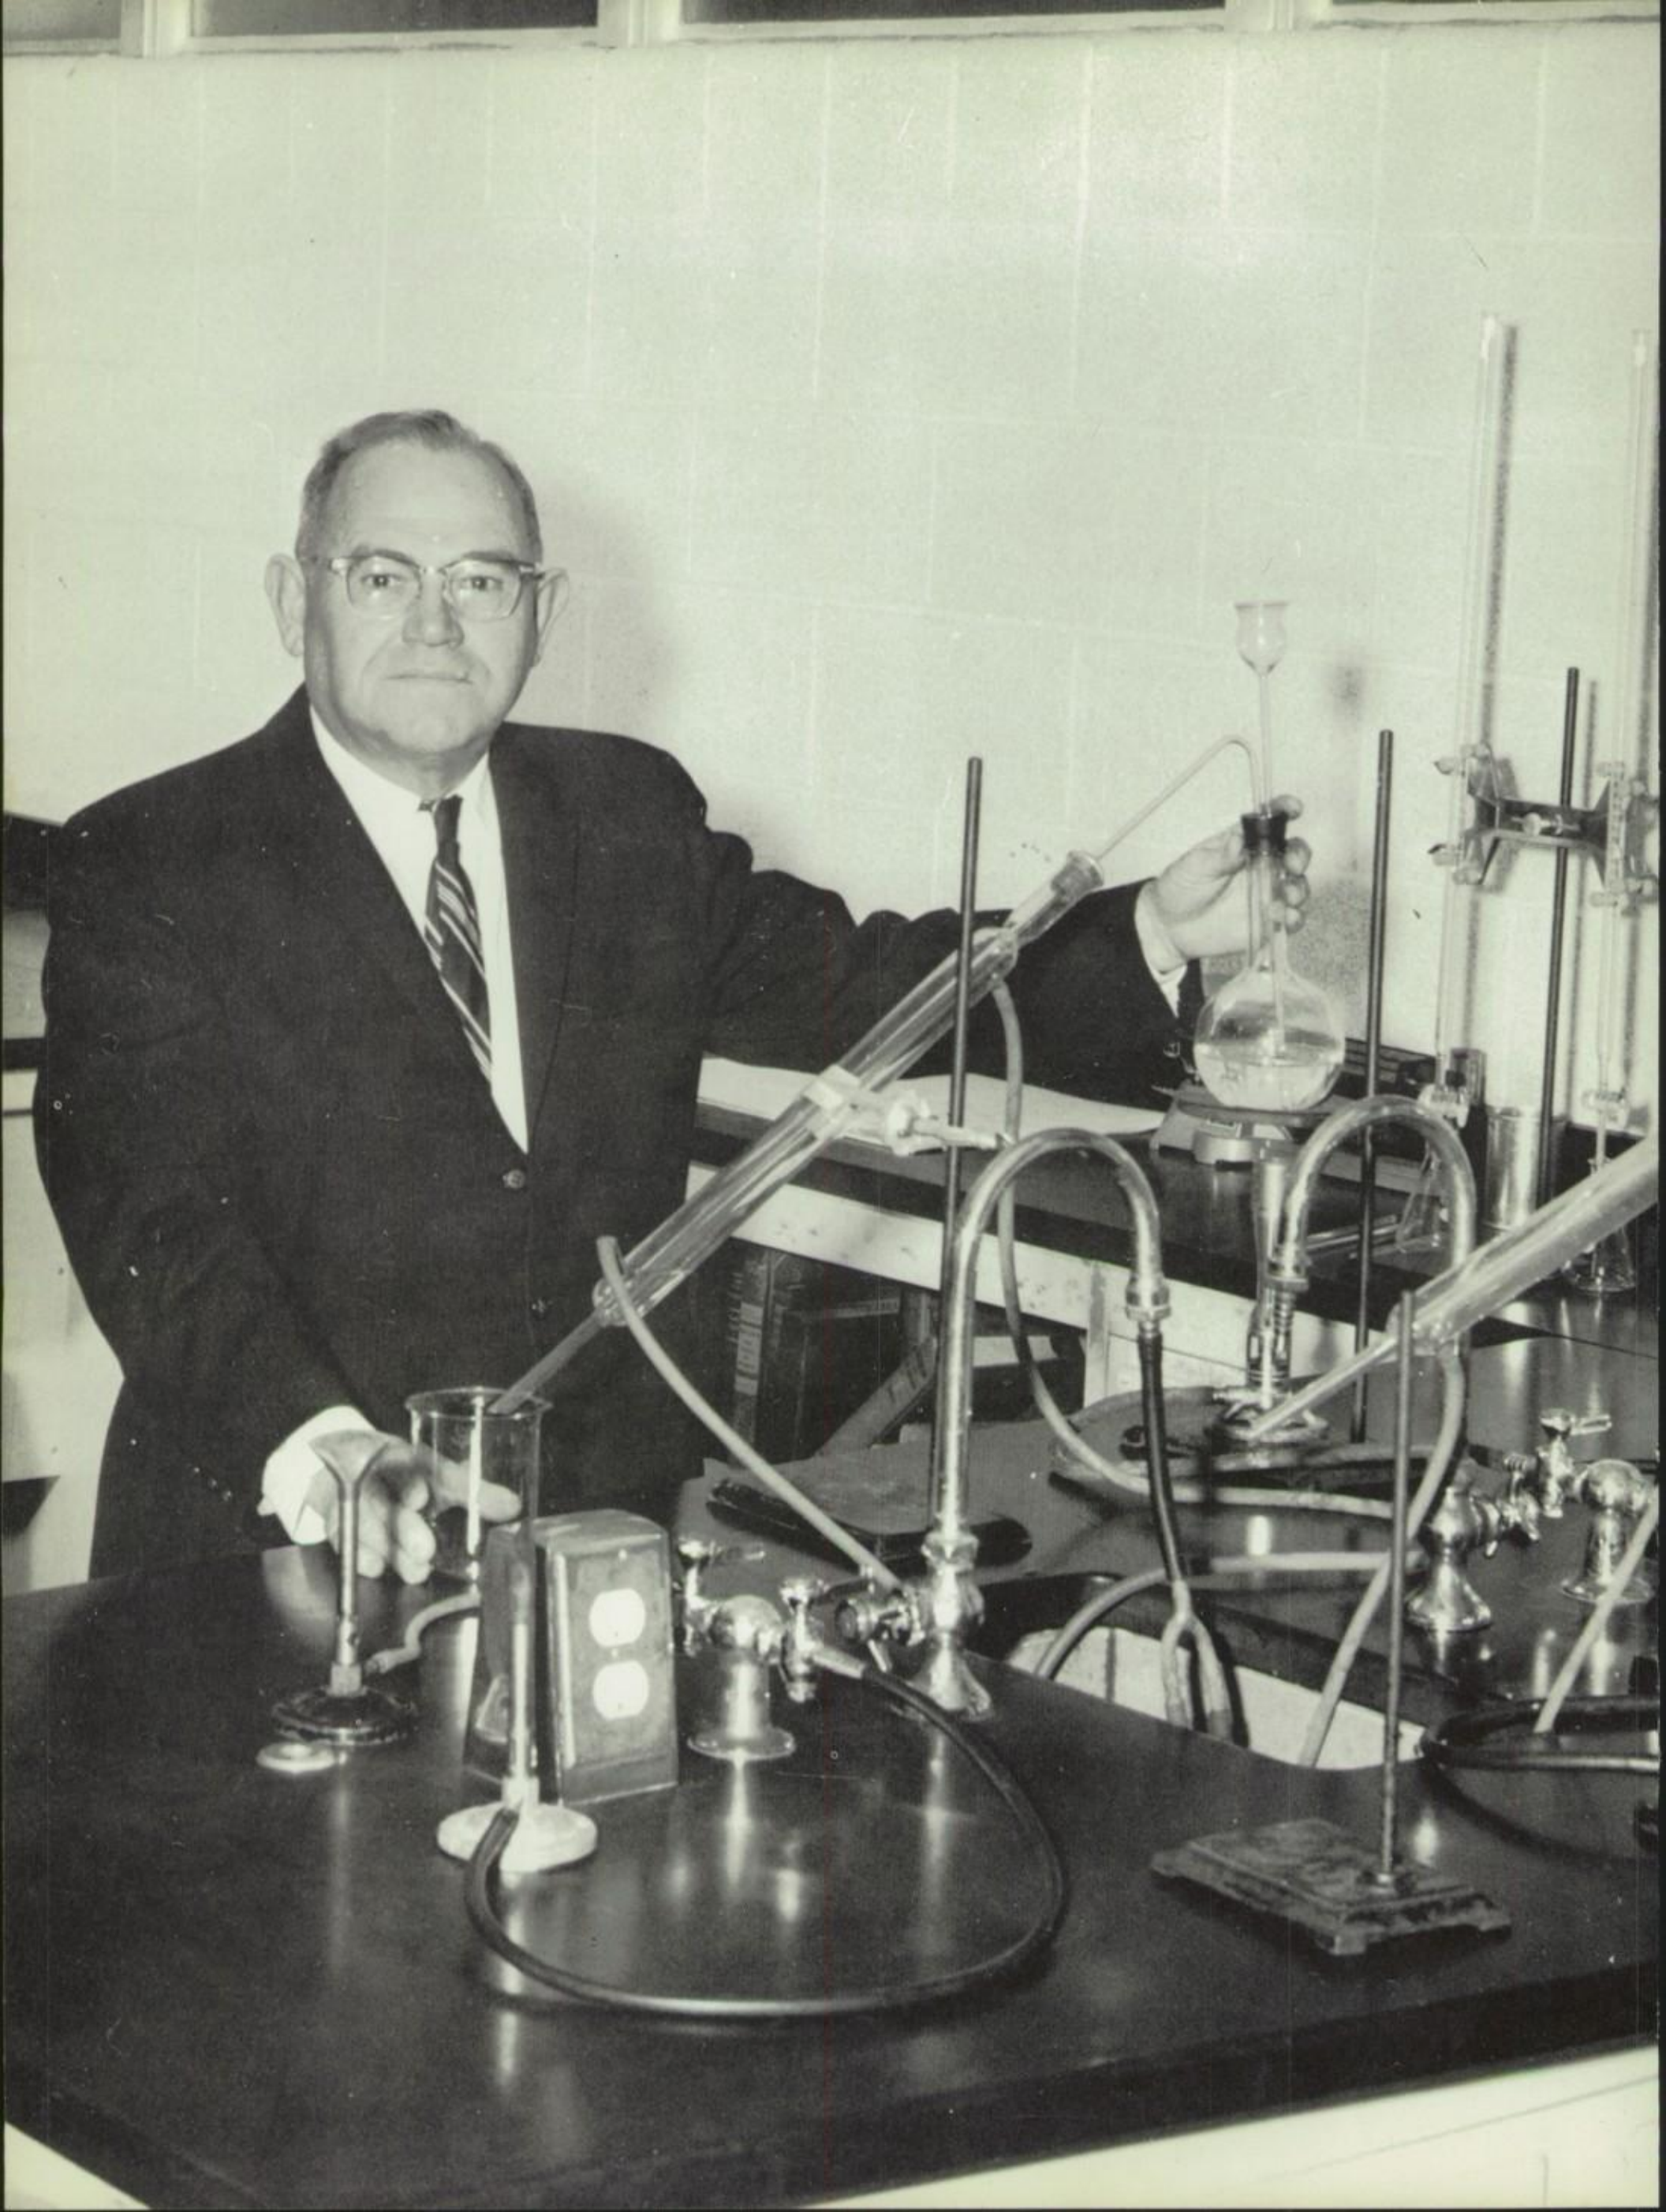

Varsity football players meet in the student lounge to talk over the events of the past season.

Leaders train students for life

Like leaders in the Viking land of old, our administrators, counselors, and teachers guide us and help us prepare for responsibilities of adult life.

Based upon their many years of experience, they guide us through a variety of subjects from art to science as we march through the school day.

Then, when the regular class day ends, our teachers take on many additional duties—as coaches and as moderators of extracurricular activities. Through sports and various school organizations, a teacher's influence reaches beyond the classroom. Lessons learned here—of fair play, of teamwork, of acceptance of responsibility—are just as important to our life's work as the training we receive in class.

Thus, it is through their example and their other efforts that teachers, counselors and administrators—like the Viking leaders of old—train us to take our place in the world.

School administration provides leadership, strives for

The 1963-64 school year has been a busy one for the Princeton Board of Education and for administrative staff members.

Among the many important responsibilities facing the school board throughout the year were the dozens of decisions that had to be made concerning revised curriculum guides. The Board reviewed new curriculum guides for Business Education, grades 9-12; English, grades 7-12; Foreign Language, 7-12; Mathematics, Kindergarten-12; Music, 1-12; and Physical Education, 1-12, which were prepared by department heads and faculty members working with Mr. Bodenbender and Dr. Lucas.

Also facing the Board of Education were many decisions concerning new school buildings and additions to present buildings. Reams of plans and specifications had to be reviewed and analyzed. Specific details with architects and contractors had to be worked out by Mr. Seeman and Dr. Lucas. As plans for the addition to the high school next year take shape, the Board and staff members will spend hundreds of hours on important work affecting the education of future students of Princeton High School.

The Board and school administration have continued to show concern over the physical well-being of present-day students. Many programs were carried out to insure the safety of students. Among them were the courses in school bus safety conducted by Mr. Luke for all Princeton school bus drivers. So important has this work become that other school districts throughout the state have made use of our district's slidefilm presentation for the training of school bus drivers.

Following the decentralized system of administration inaugurated last year, our four deans continue to handle directly the administrative details connected with each of the four grades in our school; and Mr. Neal carried out many duties for the benefit of students associated with his position as business manager for the high school.

Students seek truth, knowledge

At Princeton, students enter Valhalla during their freshman year. They find themselves caught up in a new and exciting way of life. They come to discover that life is more than a just carefree existence. They learn that many important things must be accomplished while they are in school. They come to Princeton seeking truth and knowledge. Along with this they are looking for training that will enable them to lead useful lives in the future.

In order to gain the truth and knowledge that they seek, these students discover that much time must be spent in studying and in doing homework.

Although this is the most important reason they have for coming to school, it is not the only reason. At school they may participate in activities that afford them enjoyment as well as an opportunity to make friends and enrich their own lives with meaning.

Class spirit, unity help make school life easier

Seniors have a lot of fun showing their spirit at pep assemblies.

As we look back upon our years in high school we see ourselves in many personalities. We can see, in particular, our reactions and feelings toward our school. We realize the changes that were made as we grew older. As underclassmen were we excited, impressionable, and impulsive. We grew into people with definite likes and dislikes—people with a spirit of awareness of our needs, sometimes filled with initiative and motivation, sometimes filled with boredom and depression.

The many moods of adolescence had been felt by most of us as we reached our final year in high school, yet our problems were not solved. We still had to unify ourselves into a whole. We had specific goals to reach and we had to make the many decisions that would help attain those goals. Spirit was something that we hated talking about, but it did exist. When we wanted to show our spirit, when we wanted to get something done, or when we had to make some difficult decisions, we used the knowledge we had learned in the past to make the jobs easier.

through extra-curricular activities

We will always remember the many activities we were part of at Princeton, for they were as necessary to our school life as the academics were. Through them we were able to mature into well-rounded individuals, capable of facing the complexities of our modern society. The reality of learning through experiences faces every one of us. We were taught lessons that can never be thoroughly reviewed; our exam grades cannot be in terms of A's or B's or C's. Our growth and knowledge will be measured by how well we accept the responsibilities of adulthood.

Three of our seniors represent us on "It's Academic." Here they appear with Mr. Jack Gwynn, host for the show, and Mr. Arnold Brix, Princeton faculty sponsor.

prepare for new, varied lives

Never again will we experience the feelings and moods of being in our final year of high school, for that time has past for us. As we are beginning our individual and varied lives in a more adult society, we can only relive our senior year through memories. We can see the events of that year almost as well as we saw them when they took place. We are filled with intense emotions as we remember our past, yet we have hope and ambition for our future.

The Land of Valhalla was responsible for producing men and women capable of leading others and men and women willing to follow. No matter which path we follow, we know that we will walk that path with the steadfastness and sureness of people who know where they are headed. And we will reach our destinations eventually because we have learned how to overcome the obstacles that were in our way.

For the memories of the past, the abilities of the present, and the hope for the future we have to thank Princeton. We have to raise our heads, pat our friends on the back, and say our last, but most meaningful, good-bye.

Bill Mitchell prepares himself for his future in the college of his choice.

Charlene McAfee and Dan Spinner look forward to the new world beyond high school.

Walter Lippmann said, "The final test of a leader is that he leaves behind him in other men the conviction and will to carry on. . . . The genius of a good leader is to leave behind him a situation which common sense, without the grace of genius, can deal with successfully."

Perhaps this quotation holds a meaning for us as we remember some of the outstanding leaders of our class. Certainly the leaders of the class of '64—whether they were class officers, athletes, scholars, singers, dancers, thinkers, humorists, organizers, or participants—gave to the rest of the class the spirit of enthusiasm and the desire to work. Certainly they left behind them a deep impression, which will be an example to those who will fill their places. They proved themselves willing, as well as worthy, to take responsibility in their hands and reason in their minds. They were able to step ahead of the following crowd in order to lead.

And they have been rewarded, not only by the praise of others, but in themselves and in their own special ways. They have seen accomplishment and success through their efforts. The fact that they have won a place in the Hall of Fame means nothing, in reality, except that they have something material to show for their work.

The members of the class who are pictured on this page and the next few pages were not the only leaders of the class, by any means. And they were not the only important people in the class. Yet we can let them stand as samples of excellence and good character.

No one now can have a clear enough vision of the future to be able to see what kind of adults these people will be. No one knows whether they will attain the kind of happiness they desire and deserve. Yet we can pretty well assume, however, that they will continue to be leaders in whatever they do. The qualities of leadership have become integral parts of their personalities.

Perhaps Bill Mitchell will be one of the world's greatest physicists. Maybe Kris Soderquist will be singing on Broadway. Mike Molen might be playing baseball for the Reds. It does not matter whether they turn into famous men or women or not. What matters is that they were important to the class of 1964 in their own ways. Their genius helped them pass the test of leadership. Needless to say, we are grateful.

Senior hall of fame singles out the class leaders in all fields

MOST LIKELY TO SUCCEED

Bill and Connie seem to be able to tackle any job with responsibility and efficiency.

BEST ALL AROUND

Jean and Steve relax as they take time out from a school day that is filled with many activities.

MOST TALENTED

Doug waits patiently for Kris as she prepares to sing a song from "Brigadoon."

BEST LOOKING

Nancy and Ronnie make a pretty picture on an autumn day, as they sit in front of Matthews Auditorium.

MOST FRIENDLY

Ellie and Gary smile as they show the friendliness that exists between them.

MOST ATHLETIC

Sandy and Mike illustrate their athletic abilities; and Sandy asks, "Who said women belong to the weaker sex?"

As Barb and Bobby head toward the track to watch a meet, Bobby says, "I'd rather fight than miss a Princeton track meet."

MOST SCHOOL SPIRIT

BEST COUPLE

Apparently Dorothy and Glen get along very well with each other, especially when each has that look in his eye.

MOST HUMOROUS

Susan and Bill laugh it up as they put a sale sign in front of the school. They cannot laugh too hard, though, because they have dandelions in their mouths.

Seniors active in school life

In the course of four years of high school, a person finds himself participating in many activities—not only as a member of a club, but as a volunteer worker or an enthusiast. The sometimes boring academic life of a student makes him realize the need for outside work on things which interest him. He becomes wrapped up in the world of duties and meetings of learning and growing. These next few pages attempt to recapture the many activities which we were part of at Princeton.

Underclassmen grow in wisdom

It is probable that when the Norse Vikings first arrived at Valhalla, they were a bit bewildered and amazed at the vastness of the place and the activities required there. Freshmen experience this same feeling the first few weeks of their high school career. They get lost in the building, go to the wrong rooms, lose books in their lockers, and do everything seemingly backwards. However, soon they gain control of the situation and began to participate whole-heartedly in their studies and various activities. This participation must continue through all four years of high school in order to reap all the benefits of a high school education.

Underclassmen learn that there are times for fun and time for study. They learn to budget their time in order to include as many enjoyable events as possible. Each year they become progressively more mature and learn to handle more responsibility.

Juniors live up to their hard-earned title of 'Upperclassmen'

At last! After two years of being called underclassmen by superior seniors and juniors, this year's juniors are now upperclassmen themselves! No more are they submissive to upperclass whims.

With their new title, the juniors also inherit a tremendous amount of responsibility. New class officers were elected in the fall and they began to plan immediately for more activities. One of the biggest concerns was the Prom. Looking back on that magical night, it was certainly worth all the effort and hard work.

Junior class officers, Judy Adams, treasurer; Fred Hoevenaar, president; JoAnn Fraley, secretary, and Faye Burt, vice-president, work to coordinate the class into a unit of which Princeton can be proud.

Juniors use a variety of signs to build up spirit at a pep rally.

Juniors plan for the future with aid from many sides

Now that the junior year of high school has been reached, the future suddenly seems much closer. Many students are just beginning to plan for this future, while some started long ago. No matter what the case, students always rely on the expert help of deans and counselors to guide them. Some students are going to college. Some are working. "I'm going to work downtown for that nice company." "I'm going to go to school up-state."

Sophomore year a year of gayety, learning

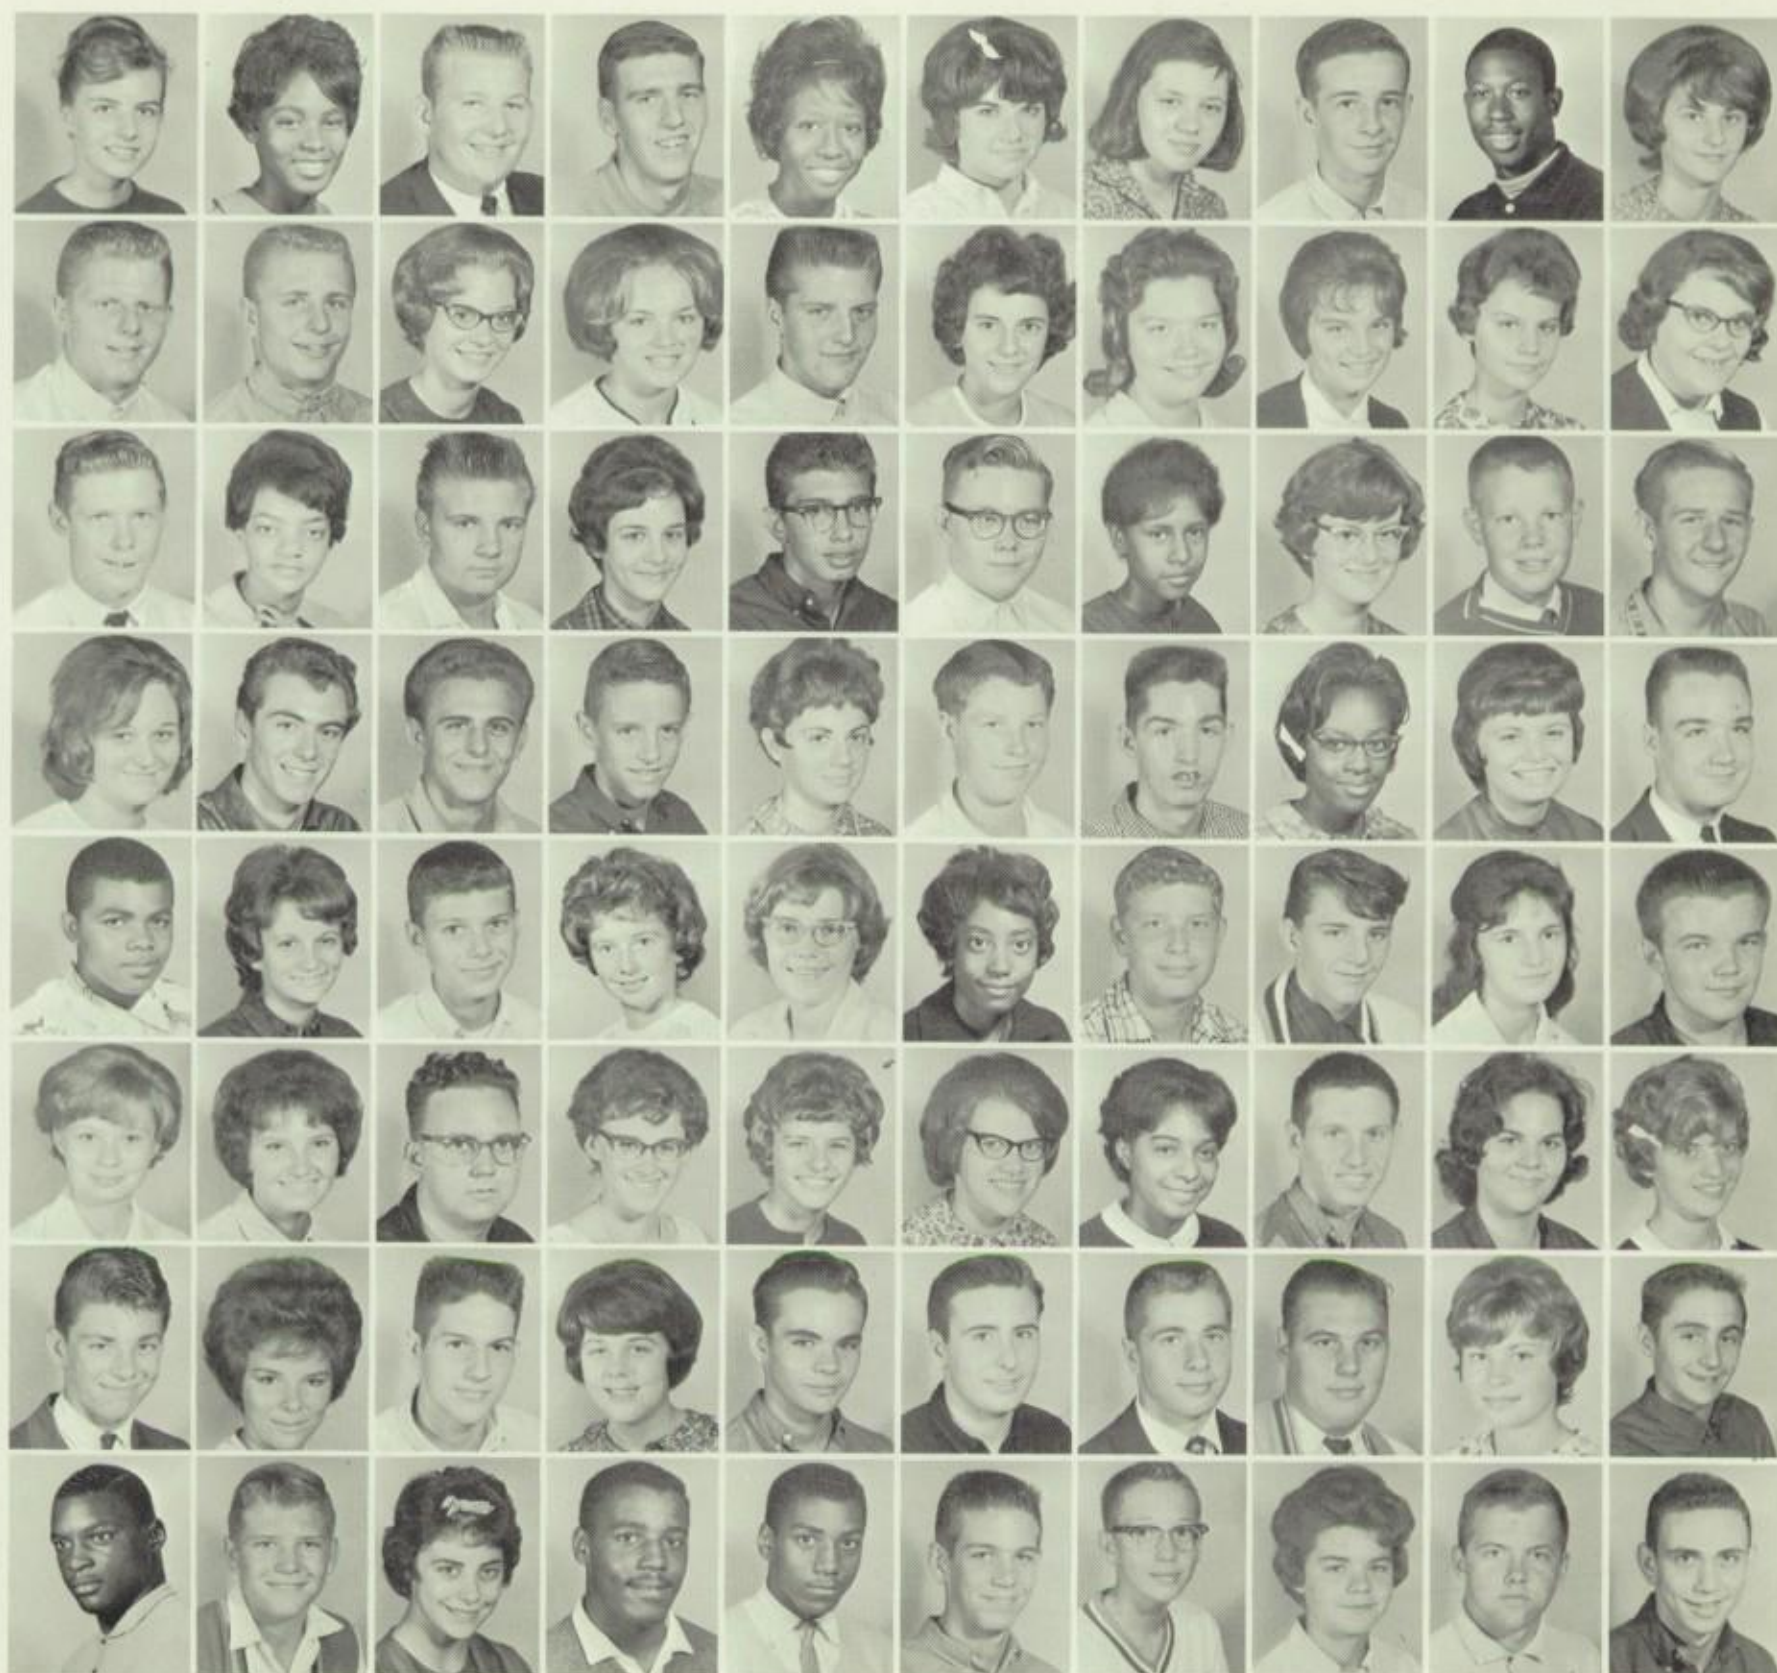

Much of the work of the sophomore class falls to the officers: left to right, Tom Martin, president; Andy Stewart, vice president; Linda Lockard, treasurer; and Marilyn Gorman, secretary.

Sophomores are indeed lucky people! The typical tenth grader knows that he will be faced with many exciting opportunities, such as the privilege of attending a wonderful school like Princeton. But, he must also realize that he must accept new responsibilities. He is still not a leader, but he should be an energetic participant; perhaps in future years he will become a leader if he can face and surmount the many challenges that life in a busy high school is sure to bring. He must give of himself in attaining the goal he chooses, whether it be social, scholastic, or both.

Classes and study stimulate sophomore minds

The sophomore year at Princeton means world history, biology, and Latin II. By now, students are expected to know how to study and how to use their time wisely.

Sophomores find it easy to live up to teachers' expectations. After all, they're almost upperclassmen! One sophomore said, "I find myself trying hard to please the adults here at school. I like to have them like me."

Studying plays an important part in the life of a student, no matter what the class may be.

Sophomores work for a successful class

By now, the sophomores have realized that a successful class depends not only on the officers, but also on the students themselves. With competent leaders, they plan many activities. President Tom Martin said, "I consider it a privilege to serve my class well and to satisfy everyone."

Mr. Shipley, sophomore counselor, helps Tom Martin with a problem in scheduling.

class largest ever

This year's sophomore class is the largest in the history of Princeton. The three hundred and seventy-five members of the class plunge eagerly into the school routine. They are faced with a number of clubs, sports, and classes to join: some for knowledge, others for fun. Faced with these choices, a sophomore might have a hard time making up his mind which club to join, or which class to enroll in. "I'll only have time for one sport this year. Should I play football or basketball?" "Mom says that I can join only three clubs. I'm going to work on the newspaper, but there are so many to choose from that I want to join them all."

Rookies find high school exciting

The freshmen have brought much pep with them into Princeton.

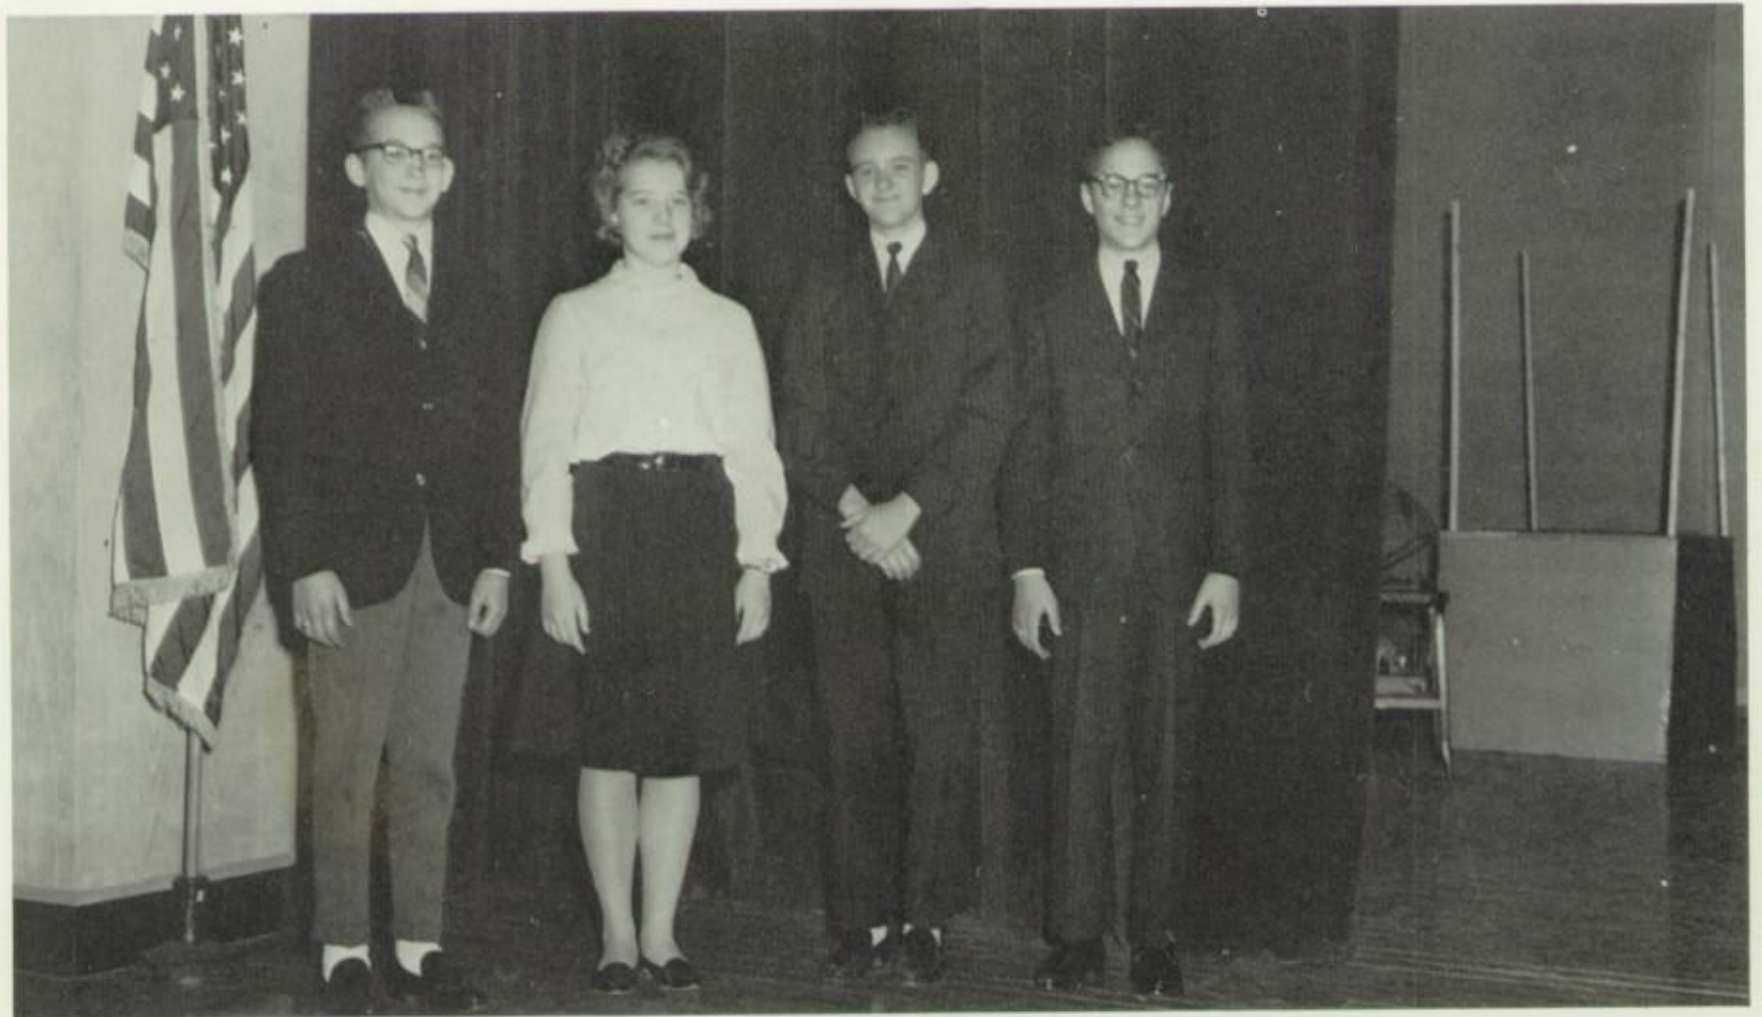

"Oh, look! There goes that football player. He's a SENIOR." "Gosh, this sure is a big place!" I got lost three times last week. I wonder if I'll ever get to my health class."

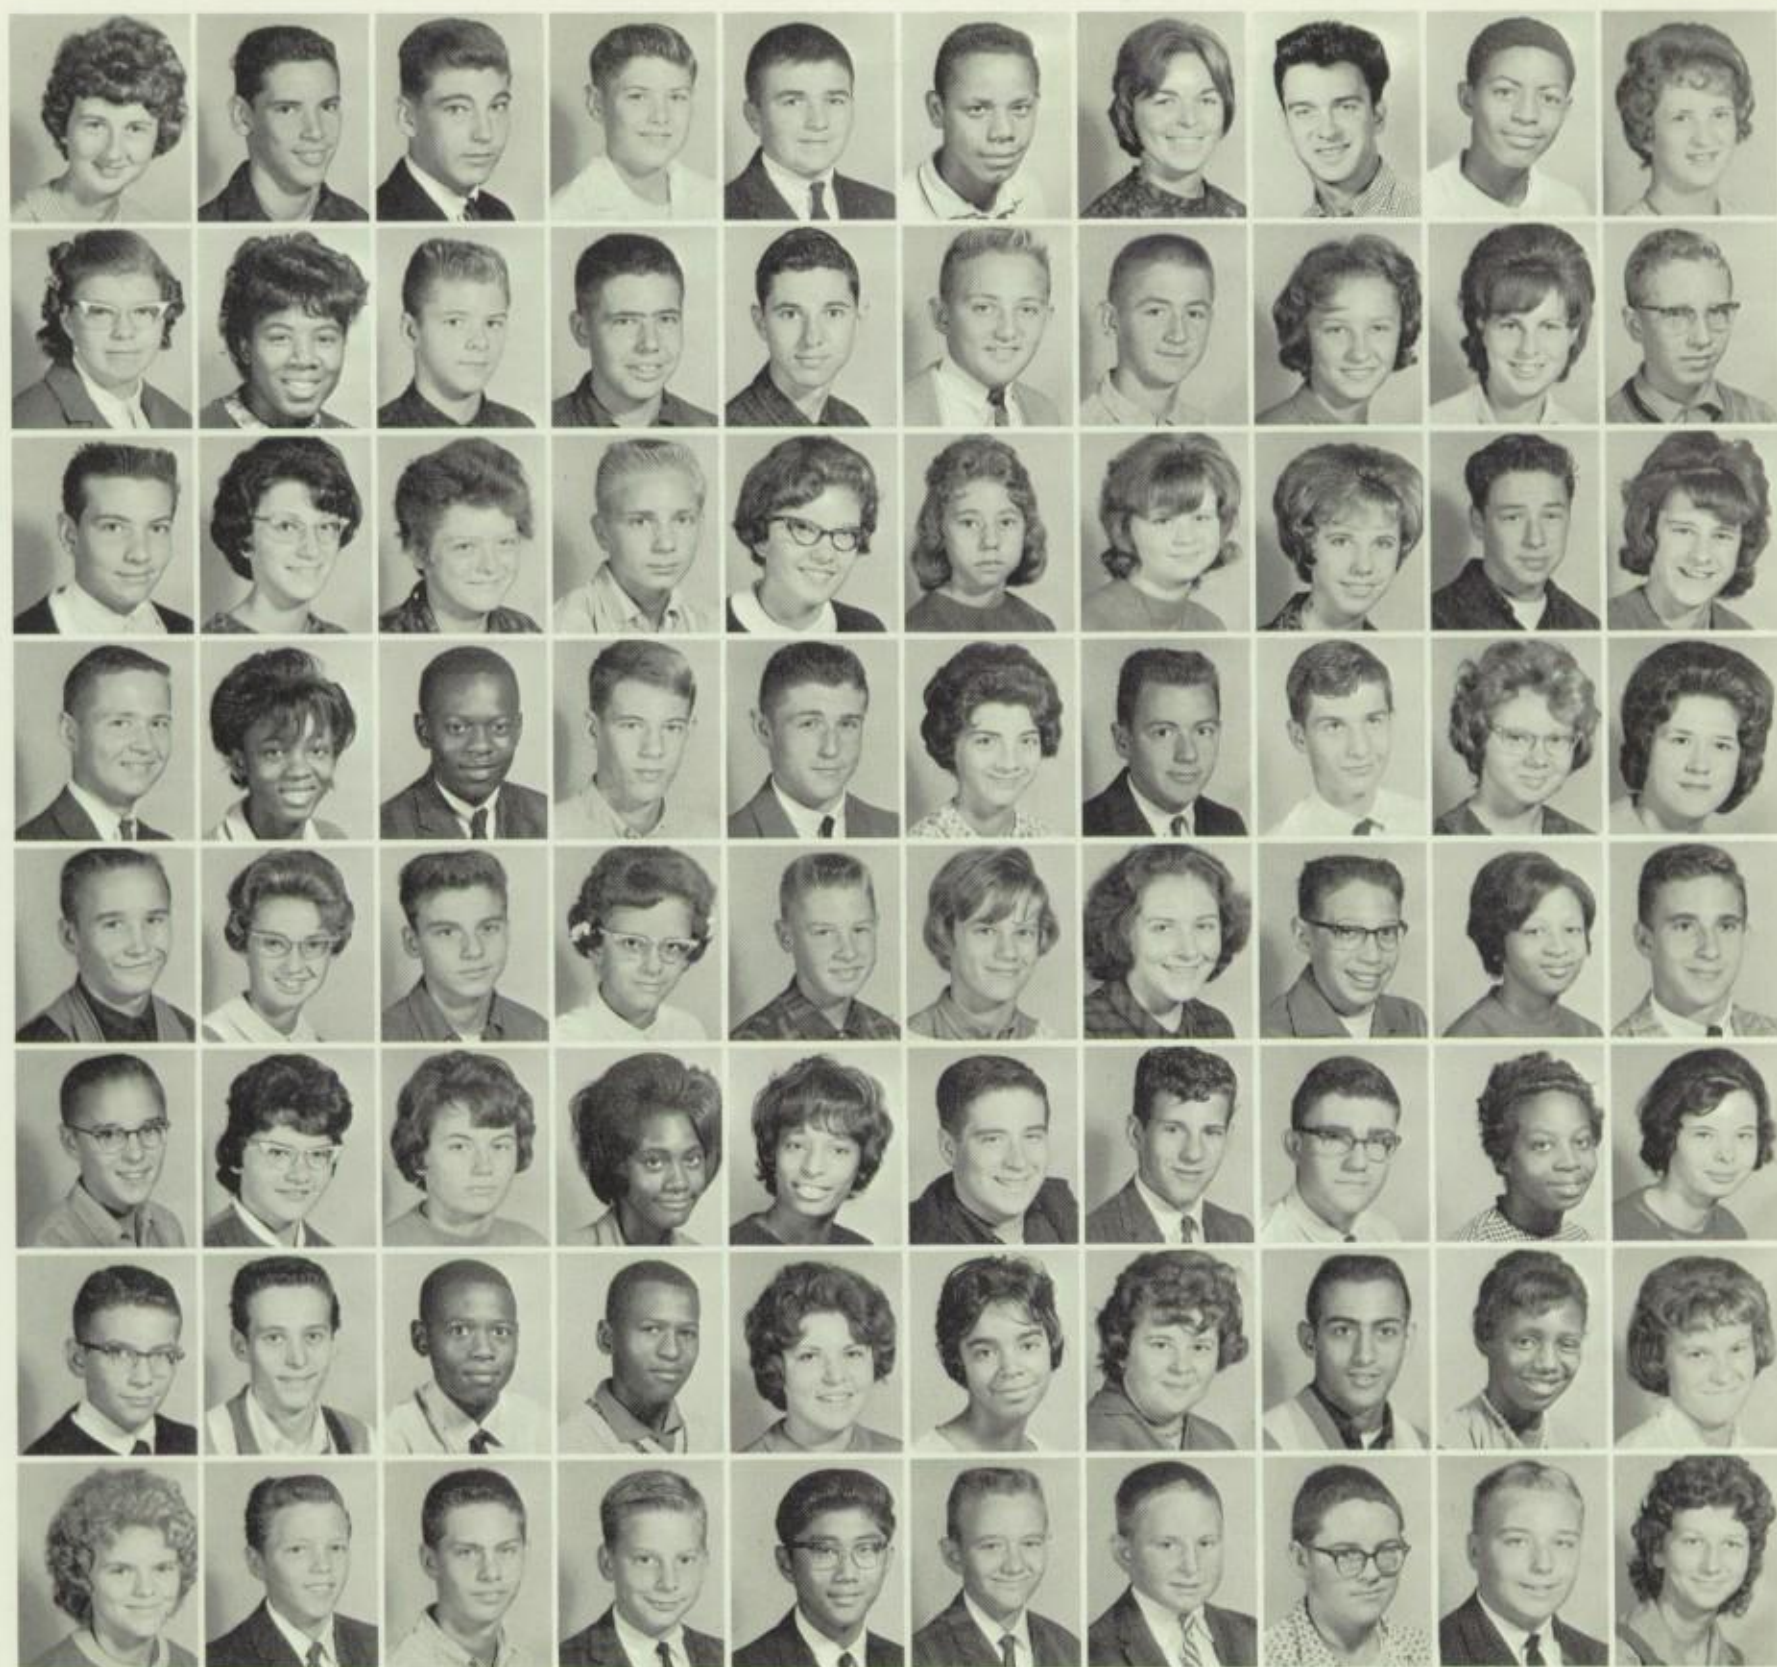

If this sounds familiar, it should be. Everyone has been a freshman at one time or another. Who can forget that first day of school? How frightening the school looked. We entered the front doors, trying not to look too scared, yet somehow feeling very grown up.

Soon, after spending weeks of pathfinding and asking questions of upperclassmen who used our plight for a bit of fun, we knew where we were going. And at Princeton that can mean only one direction—up, up, UP!

The freshman class officers have a new job—governing a new class. They are (left to right): Marty Honerlaw, treasurer; Susan House, secretary; Roy Clark, vice president; and Louie Brookmeier, president.

Freshmen learn by doing

At Princeton, students are prepared for the future in courses of practical application. They learn by doing. In earth science, real rocks are studied and field trips are planned. In home economics, cakes are baked and dresses are sewn.

The final outcome is that of a happy, well-rounded student with his future clearly pin-pointed.

After becoming accustomed to high school life, freshmen find themselves in the midst of numerous activities. They take advantage of their first year of high school by joining many clubs and sports to get the feel of school. For this reason, the freshman year is especially important.

Activities deepen students' culture

The major purpose of Princeton's Valhalla is education. However, this education is not acquired through books and classroom experience only. There is a variety of things to be learned through extra-curricular activities. Students participate in the clubs that interest them the most. In this way they can develop this interest or their skills to a higher degree. Some organizations function for this purpose; others exist to render some type of service or perform useful duties. All clubs contribute to the culture of Princeton. Students work long and hard to make these functions a success and to prove their value.

The size of Princeton helps contribute to the success of these extra activities. There are usually some students who are interested in any club that is organized. They not only work in the club; but they also arouse enthusiasm in the other students making the organizations bigger and better every year.

Student Council members are: ROW ONE—D. Rouff; G. Lueking; S. Humphrey; S. Houze, pres.; N. Hunting, sec.; P. Messer, treas.; D. Niehaus; P. Marks; B. Chatfield; and A. Stewart

ROW TWO—P. Baumann; B. Roberts; B. Butz; A. Young, S. Salvato; B. Rickard; B. Patton; G. McKenzie; and Aaron Mackey.

Active Student Council sparks school spirit

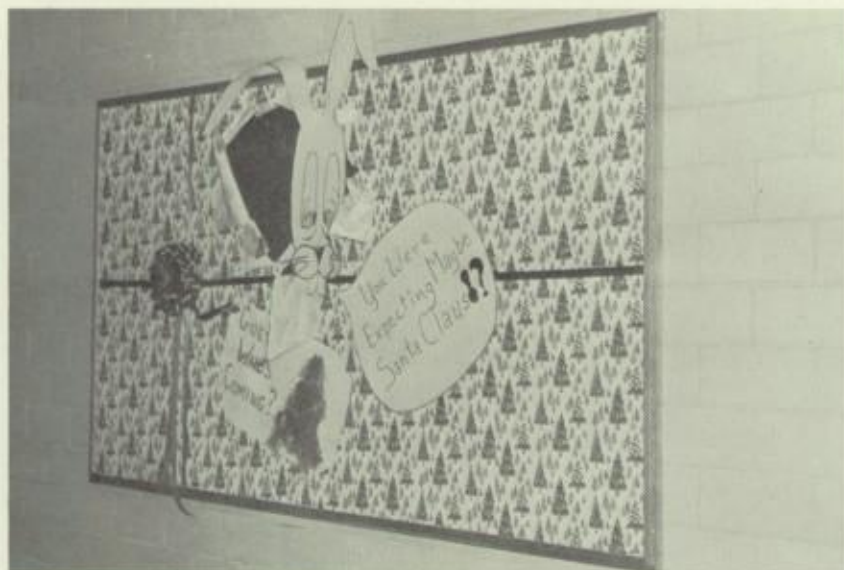

The "Third Party" team that won in student council elections of 1963 and led council through a year of action and prosperity is made up of Pat Messer, treasurer; Nancy Hunting, secretary; Bill Mitchell, vice president; and Steve Houze, president.

"III in '63" was the motto when the third party took office at the beginning of the year. The officers had high hopes, as did the students who had placed all their trust in the new party. Beginning right after the elections, they have worked very hard all year to promote school spirit and make council a significant organization.

A good meal, light conversation, and a pretty view were enjoyed by all as the Student Council sponsored the annual Central Office Christmas banquet.

One year-round project of council's was the decoration of the bulletin board at "Hollywood and Vine" to suit the various occasions each week.

Among the many successful accomplishments of Student Council this year have been Homecoming fireworks, permanent outdoor announcement board, paperback books and the bookmobile, purchasing of flags for the main hall and library, the paper drive, an honor list for grade improvement, various intramurals, and purchase of salt and pepper shakers for the dining room. All in all, the year has been a great success for Student Council and the student body.

Sam Clutts, Bill Roberts, and Steve Houze carry out plans for a Christmas tree in the front lobby.

Barb Phillips and Steve Frasher browse through the council-sponsored bookmobile.

Sara Salvato, Mike Bohner, and Steve Frasher prepare Odin's Word display.

Members are: ROW ONE—E. Hayes, C. Spencer, E. Leuking, G. Koehn, D. Tarzwell, S. Clutts, N. Huntting, J. Hamilton, B. Chatfield, M. Grote. ROW TWO—D. Snider, D. Zimmer, C. Rogers, K. Rogers, P. Byrd, C. McAfee, D. Moorehead, J. Diamond, A. Seeman, E. Smith, S. Mayfield, J. Durham, K. Marshall, H. Dixon. ROW THREE—J. Mitchell, N. Brazier, B. Patton, F. Hoevenaar, D. Campbell, S. Fuchs, S. Clay, G. Lownsdale, G. Lucas, B. Mitchell, J. Hamilton, D. Gorman, Mr. Mosteller. Not shown: R. Schwenterly, C. Smith, S. Houze, D. Crockett, J. Owen.

Honor Society encourages character, leadership

Honor Society officers for the year were Connie Spencer, treas.; Diana Snider, sec.; Sandy Fuchs, v. pres.; and Dick Gorman, pres.

Scholarship, service, leadership, and character are the four basics for election into Princeton's chapter of the National Honor Society. The society's purpose is to instill enthusiasm for scholarship, to stimulate a desire to render service, to promote worthy leadership, and to encourage the development of character.

The induction ceremony this year was held on March 18 in an assembly before the entire school. Membership now stands at thirty-two seniors, and thirty-three juniors, and sixteen sophomores.

Activities of the National Honor Society consists of members studying at the Information Desk, where they run errands for teachers and guide visitors. Also included are a picnic and the elections of officers held at a nearby park.

New members are: ROW ONE—B. Long, J. Erp, S. Hanrahan, S. Foley, J. Hunley, M. Gorman. ROW TWO—B. Tarzwell, B. Bowman, D. Kalmbaugh, R. Coletta, T. Martin, G. Helm, M. Hawk, D. Barker. ROW THREE—S. Messer, P. Linson, A. Blair, E. Harvey, M. Moffet, E. Phillips, D. Cheatham, C. Roberts, S. Hill. ROW FOUR—M. Craig, F. Schwartz, D. Haskings, R. Parks, G. Bourne, J. Hall, R. Mason, C. Mason, L. Thompson. NOT SHOWN—L. Barrett, R. Brown, F. Burt, S. Frasher, B. Green, S. Hunt, S. Salvato.

Vikettes, who don appropriate evening dress for service at the performance of "Anastasia" are P. Byrd, C. McAfee, C. Warner, and S. Fuchs.

Senior Vikettes wear blazers with honor

Twelve senior-to-be girls were chosen during the summer of 1963 to take on the duties and honor symbolized by the red Princeton Vikette blazer. Throughout the school year they have ushered at school assemblies and student productions, taken tickets at football and basketball games, greeted visitors to the school on occasions, and generally served Princeton in many ways. As their contribution to the organization, which was begun by a senior health class in 1963, they have met with their sponsor, Mr. Gaenge, and formulated some rules by which to operate and to choose the next year's twelve Vikettes.

Ushering at a school assembly are N. Huntting, J. Dimond, A. Warren, and D. Snider.

Smiles are part of the greetings at "Viking" basketball game as B. Phillips, D. Tarzwell, S. Foley, and A. Seeman collect tickets.

Officers of the Key Club are:
ROW ONE—D. Crockett, R. Parks, A. Mackey, and T. Martin. Members are: ROW TWO—L. Kleeman, P. Williams, M. Passino, L. Thompson, M. Williams, A. Hayes, and Mr. Jaspers, sponsor.

Key Club and Viking Club provide service to fans

The Key Club was a great help to fans at basketball games this past year. They served refreshments and worked at the coat check. By their friendliness and their helpfulness, they added warmth to the games.

The Viking Club, which consists of boys who have earned a varsity letter, sold programs at games as a service to fans. Membership in the club is quite an honor, since only those boys who have won a varsity letter are accepted by the club.

At basketball games, Key Club members serve spectators soft drinks and friendly smiles.

Princeton athletes in the Viking Club are: ROW ONE—M. Hunley, J. Marks, C. Mason, S. Houze, F. Beckman, T. Hinkle. ROW TWO—Mr. Salvato, adviser; B. Sulfsted; G. McKenzie; R. Turnau; G. Bates; J. Mayhem; Mr. King, adviser.

Tri-Hi-Y develops character

"Pure thoughts, pure words, and pure deeds" is the inspiring motto of the Tri-Hi-Y Club.

A Christian organization affiliated with Y.W.C.A. and sponsored by Miss Rappold, the club tries to create, maintain, and extend standards of Christian character throughout home, school, and community.

Service projects during the year included preparation of Christmas presents for orphans at St. Aloysius Orphanage and Christmas baskets for needy families.

Social activities included sponsorship of the Saddle Hawkins Dance in November and a mother-daughter banquet in May.

The club also carried out a program to instill interest in government and to increase students' knowledge about processes of government. A caucus for all Hamilton County Tri-Hi-Y's was held in January, and from this meeting Liz Fries and Faye Burt were chosen to attend the state-wide meeting in Columbus during April.

A triangle is the emblem of Tri-Hi-Y.

Judy Mitchell, Evelyn Leuking, Paulette Wermuth, and Faye Burt open the meeting with ceremonies.

Wide variety of services provided by girls

The Typing Pool consists of twelve girls whose jobs are to type tests and assignments for the teachers, business letters, stencils, and mimeographs. It is an extension of Mr. Imhoff's class.

Also working at Princeton is the Secretarial Practice Group. These girls work under the supervision of Mrs. Bradbury at the switchboard for a two-week period.

Also helping in offices are the Student Receptionists. These girls answer phone calls in the Deans' and Guidance offices. They also run errands for the counselors and teachers.

Many hours are spent at the typewriter keyboard by members of the Typing Pool: SEATED—J. Erp and L. Arnold. STANDING—Mrs. Hupp, C. Fryman, L. Dods, N. Fread, B. Schwartz, S. Foley, M. Hawk, S. Tyahur, and Mrs. Troendle.

Student receptionist are L. Newman, K. Seibert, B. Englert, with sponsor Miss Huth, D. Niehaus, K. Barrows, A. Loren, and B. Harvey.

Secretarial and clerical helpers who put class work to actual practice in duties at school are:
ROW ONE—J. Palmer, S. Fraley, N. Fread, D. Shipley, L. Dods, M. Minor, L. Smith, and J. Deaton. ROW TWO—K. Wallace, B. Frank, S. Brockman, C. Fryman, B. Bowman, M. Hawk, and S. Foley. ROW THREE—B. West, B. Johnson, D. Swartz, B. Meischke, and B. Shafto.

Color bearers brave weather to display American Flag

Every day in rain and snow, in cold weather and in fair weather, three boys serve as color bearers to raise the American flag outside Matthews Auditorium in the morning and to lower the flag in the afternoon at the close of the school day.

Sponsored by Mr. Piersawl, the boys—Eddie Bilkaseley, Charles Clemons, and Leon Embry—are well-trained in the protocol of caring for and displaying the American flag.

Students assist librarian, provide many important services

Continually striving for a better library, the school library assistants are always busy helping the librarian and her staff by shelving books, checking books and magazines, and helping to keep the library in order.

Lowering the flag are Charles Clemons, Eddie Bilkasley, and Leon Embry.

Library aides are Bev Henderson, Sue Puckett, Larry Thompson, Sharon Tyahur, Karen Craig, and Anita Smith.

The Thespians are SEATED—K. Soderquist, pres.; S. Clay, v. pres. ROW ONE—A. Hayes; K. McDaniels; R. Brown, recording secretary; S. Clutts, membership secretary; Diane Zimmer, treasurer; D. Mason; P. Wermuth; M. Grote. ROW TWO—J. McCollum; P. Bower; P. Baumann; T. Clutts; D. Heismann; D. Matz; R. Smith; T. Young; Mr. Banks, sponsor. Not shown: K. Barrows, G. Bates, S. Bryant, C. Burnette, D. Emerson, and P. Guthrie.

Thespians, Ham Radio are two new clubs

There are two clubs new to Princeton this year. The Ham Radio Club, sponsored by Mr. Huddleston, includes boys who are interested in the mechanics and operating of radio equipment. They have had displays at the various school open-houses and promise a very interesting and expandable addition to Princeton's list of extracurricular activities.

The Thespians are a group of students who have had some part in a dramatical production. Thespian, as Webster defines it, is "having to do with the drama, especially with tragedy; an actor..."

Vocational programs give work experience

Little is seen at school of the many students who participate in the cooperative training programs offered. They attend classes in the morning and then leave for work after a half-day of school. These people are receiving on-the-job experience for work after high school, and at the same time are gaining credits toward graduation. They will be well-prepared to meet the future with their rounded educations. One might say they have a headstart on many who do not get out into the busy career world until after high school.

D.E. students leave school at noon to gain on-the-job selling experience as part of their education.

Members of the Spanish Club are ROW ONE—the officers, L. Ward, J. Ahlers, B. Lang, L. Danko, B. Pope. ROW TWO—D. Zeh, L. Hageman, R. Mays, A. Shockley, S. Carlson, J. Austin, C. Jones. ROW THREE—V. Evans, K. Ernst, V. Looyengood, Mrs. Naegel, sponsor; K. Noonan, B. Graftson, R. Dold, R. Osgood, C. Russell.

Doug Emerson and Steve Frasher talk in French about Christmas in Paris during the French Club's skit at Christmas time.

Clubs spark interest

Mrs. Naegel, a new foreign language teacher this year, and the Spanish Club have explored the culture of Spanish-speaking people at their meetings. They held a Spanish Fiesta on April 23 as their project for the year.

One of the biggest events for the French Club this year was helping entertain some 800 parent and student visitors at the International Tea in December. As the French Club's contribution, a skit was performed, illustrating the difficulties run into by a young American in France who did not speak the native language.

The French Club is comprised of ROW ONE—D. Schwartz, B. Marple, B. Long, T. Menger, F. Thompson, J. Isaacs, J. Gustafson, C. Seward, and S. Soderquist. ROW TWO—R. Clark, C. Berssenbrugge, J. Lewis, W. Walker, C. Roberts, A. Rhorer, C. Van Coney, S. House, R. Braus,

in foreign languages

The German Club was honored to have as a guest speaker at one of their meetings Mr. Weisgerber, a Princeton art teacher who traveled over the world last summer to gather information and study cultures of various types.

A ceramic tile mosaic of Cincinnatus was the project of the year for the Latin club; it was presented to the school at the annual Roman Banquet in April. Other activities held by the Latin Club have been its initiation dinner, International Tea, Ides of March Dance, and an annual picnic.

As displayed on the bulletin board at 'Hollywood and Vine,' the Latin Club's theme for their Ides of March Dance was "Three Coins in a Fountain."

Every year the Princeton newspaper staff strives for the best publication of Odin's Word ever, and it seems that almost everyone is satisfied with the turnout at the close of each May.

Not all students recognize the fact that a lot of effort and time is spent by many people in getting the layouts for each issue made out and sent in to the printer to meet deadlines. Each staff member has a special job that must be completed before the paper can be printed; and this puts a lot of responsibility on the shoulders of some of the most capable students at Princeton, who always manage to get things done. Without the unending and unthanked help and experience of Mr. Donnelly, much of the success of the newspaper could not have been obtained. It is surely a rewarding adventure to participate in this publication of the student body of Princeton.

Mr. Burns leads smooth distribution of paper at 2:25 p.m.

Taking a breather from work, editors S. Clay, A. Seeman, N. Huntting, J. Durham, G. Koehn, and D. Ramey chat with Mr. Donnelly.

Provide memories of year—

Recording the year's activities, happenings, feelings, rewards, and memories is the job of the Student Prince staff. They try to capture all these elements and more in putting the students' annual together, so its readers may more easily remember the people, places, and things they knew that year.

The members of the Student Prince staff hope they have achieved one of the very best yearbooks ever to bring together the many aspects of life at Princeton, and that even more student interest will be shown in the future toward participation in the work that is necessary for a successful annual.

Photographers T. Hinkle, C. Russell, R. Crockett, and K. Clift check over labors of the year.

Growth in intelligence, wisdom is the goal . . .

The National Forensic League, or Debate, of Princeton is not actually a club; it is a national organization. Its debates are interscholastic and usually invitational. Some of the debate tournaments have been held at Ohio State, Dayton Chaminade, and Heidleburg College.

Through debate, the members learn to express themselves, to analyze situations logically, and to do research carefully.

The National Forensic Banquet was held May 29. Mrs. Barton is the sponsor.

Through membership in the Junior Council on World Affairs, a student may discuss and learn about governmental, economic, and social conditions existing in our world. Membership is open to all interested students. Some of the activities carried out this year were discussions, films, a city-wide conference at Woodward, and a World Affairs Institute represented by four states and held at the Sheraton-Gibson. Princeton's representatives were Connie Spencer and John Magella. Mr. Merrill is the advisor.

Junior Council on World Affairs members are: ROW ONE—S. Hunt, M. Vincent, A. Seeman, J. Hamilton, and C. Spencer. ROW TWO—W. Pope, J. Durham, S. James, D. Moorhead, J. Hamilton, P. Byrd, C. McAfee, B. Tarzwell, S. Mayfield, and M. Grote.

... to land of romance

"Brigadoon," a two-act musical comedy written by Frederick Loew and Alan J. Lerner, tells of two Americans—Tommy Albright and Jeff Douglas—who happen to run into Brigadoon, a town in the Scottish Highlands. The town appears for one day every hundred years. There they see a fair, a wedding, and a chase. Tommy falls in love with a local girl and decides to remain in Brigadoon.

Among the many people who had a part in producing the show were: Mr. Banks, director; Miss Aikins, choreographer; Doug Emerson, student director; Miss Hunt, costumes, Mrs. Meier, musical director; Miss Rappold, art; Mr. Pettit, scenery; Mr. Sullivan, lighting; Mr. Reynolds, instrumental director, and Mr. Wagner, business manager.

Bagpiper Ray Smith leads the funeral procession.

Barb Streight, as Jean MacLaren, pronounces wedding vows to Phil Bauman—Charlie Dalrymple—as minister Aaron Mackey wishes them well.

Back in New York, Danny Heisman, as Tommy Albright, tells Nancy Huntting—Jane Austin—that marriage is not for him.

Hard-working stagecrafters build props for plays

Stagecrafters aim high as they prepare set for "Anastasia."

Behind the scenes at every event held in the auditorium are the hard-working yet unseen members of the stage crew. These busy students paint scenery, build frames, work lighting equipment, draw the curtain, and carry out all the necessary mechanical business of making a presentable program. At their head is cheerful "Uncle Lloyd" Mulcahey, the hardest worker of them all.

Training in music brings change of pace

"Variety" is the key word here; no matter what type of music one is looking for, it can be found in the Princeton vocal department. This way a well-rounded education in the field of music can be offered to suit anyone's tastes. And it goes without saying that to be a member of a choral group directed by Mrs. Meier is to have a pleasant and interesting outlet from the regular grind of the school day.

Bands, choral groups, and individuals bring honor

Three students who received superior, or "I" ratings in both district and state solo contests were Dan Campbell, and Rick Schwenterly, who play the French Horn, and Robin Braus, who plays flute.

The Music Department has made great strides this year as instrumental and choral groups and individual students took honors in state and local contests.

Winners of Division I rating—the highest rating possible—in state competition were the Boys' Ensemble and these three individuals: Robin Braus for a flute solo, Rick Schwenterly and Dan Campbell for french horn solos.

Sports build mind and body

The aim of Princeton High School is not only to build the mind, but also the body. Many opportunities are available to the student who is willing to take advantage of them. Not only are these opportunities available to the boys, but they are also available to the girls. For the boys who want to participate in athletics, but for some reason or another cannot take part in interscholastic sports, there are intramurals in football, basketball, volleyball, and in other areas. Open competition between schools includes such sports as football, track, basketball, cross-country, gymnastics, swimming, baseball, wrestling, golf, and tennis.

For girls there are both intramurals and interscholastic sports. Some of the athletics in which girls may participate include field hockey, basketball, volleyball, tumbling, softball, track, swimming, and tennis.

From these sports, students learn the fundamentals of good sportsmanship. They learn to work together to achieve a common goal; and as a result, they become healthier both mentally and physically.

Determined Vikings settle for third in HCL

Diligent practice and strong determination brought the Vikings' varsity football team through another successful year of high school gridiron games. Pushed on by a group of spirited, yelling students and under the excellent training of coach Pat Mancuso and his staff, the Vikings placed third in the Hamilton County League.

The championship was not decided until the Vikings' final league game against a powerful Oak Hills team. Had the Vikings won this game, there would have been a tie for first place; and the Vikings would have been co-champions with Oak Hills.

Although their record of 6—2—2 was not as good as last year's record of 9—1, it is a record of which the team should be proud.

Boys fight hard, set new records

The varsity football team this year had many outstanding players, and many new school records were set by these players.

In the Greenhills game, Greg McKenzie, the Vikings' powerful, running, junior fullback, set a new school record for the number of carries by a single player in one game—with 38 trips through the line.

Gary Bates, a senior lineman, set a record for most tackles in one season—with a total of 159.

Against Anderson, Doug Isaacs, junior quarterback and fullback, scored 32 points, including four touchdowns, for a school record.

Earl Flemmer, punter for the Vikings, averaged 37 yards per punt. Through his fine punting, the Vikings were able to escape trouble and put the opposition at a disadvantage.

Four players are All-Star choices

This year four of our football players received even further recognition for their outstanding ability. As a result of hard work, Chuck Haverland, Ken Root, Doug Isaacs, and Don Abbott were selected for All-County honors. In addition, Don Abbott, Ken Root, and Chuck Haverland were named All-City amid heavy competition.

Reserves post deceptive record, stand 4—4 on season

Reserves regain strength through a rest at half-time.

Princeton's reserve football team, under the fine coaching of Mr. Ferd Maccioli, compiled a record of four wins and four defeats. Their victories were over Colerain, Greenhills, and over their last two opponents—Lemon Monroe and Reading. Their four losses were suffered at the hands of Wyoming, Mt. Healthy, Moeller, and Norwood.

Though the team's record is not impressive, it is somewhat deceptive. Five outstanding reserve players—D. Aston, S. Buttrey, E. Clay, K. Haverland, and J. Jackman—were lost to the varsity most of the season but returned for the final two games. In these games the Vikings won impressive victories over Lemon Monroe 56—0 and over Reading 22—0—showing the improvement, these five players made in the team's offense and defense with their return.

Frosh coaches

Corradini and Wolnik

lead team to 7—1 season

The freshman football team with superior coaching from Mr. Ronald Corradini and Mr. Donald Wolnik, both new to Princeton, ended the regular season play with a fine record of seven wins and one loss.

The one defeat was to a strong Wyoming team in the Vikings' first encounter of the season. After this lone defeat, the team went on to win their last seven games in a row. Wins were over Anderson, Colerain, White Oak, Moeller, Norwood, Green Hills, and Sycamore.

The success of the team was due mostly to the fact that it had good speed in the backfield. The team, however, was somewhat inexperienced in line play.

Through their determined work, Coaches Corradini and Wolnik helped the boys to overcome many of their faults and build the spirit that is so necessary to a winning team.

It was a season of which the boys should be proud.

The cheerleaders—varsity, reserve, and freshmen—play an important and appreciated role in school activities.

They set an example of sportsmanship and help to arouse school spirit. The whole mood of the athletic program is centered around the spirit they generate.

To help spark this spirit, they must win the respect, loyalty, admiration, and cooperation of the fans.

Long hours of hard work are spent in preparation for this task.

Cross-country team captures district championship, improves with each meet

The 1963 season for the cross-country team was one of success. With "improvement" as the team's motto, each individual bettered his time for the two-mile run each time he ran.

The Vikings had three Suburban League meets; and in all three, each time in a field of 11 teams, they finished third. The team finished second in the Hamilton County League after three league meets.

In the district cross-country meet held at Greenhills, the Vikings upset favored Greenhills and Middletown and took first place among 16 other teams. Determination and hard work brought home this championship.

Charles Mason, a junior, remained undefeated up to the state meet. He won the district meet in a field of 105 runners. During the season he set a new county and school record of 10:22 for the two-mile run. He was chosen most valuable to his team. Dave Parker was voted most improved.

Viking cagers show improvement over last year's squad

"Improvement" was the big word when the talk switched to varsity basketball this year. The improvement showed up in a number of places. This year's team, coached by Mr. Bill Hupp, a new coach from Salem Local High School, compiled a record of nine wins against nine losses on the regular season. This record was far superior to last year's mark of three wins and fifteen defeats.

Also, improvement could be noted in the individual players. Don Abbott, Princeton's 6' 4" center, was the team's leading rebounder with 221 total rebounds and was the most accurate shooter from the floor, hitting 47.5 percent of his shots. Dave Parker, one of the Vikings' fine guards, had the best foul-throw percentage, with a mark of 66.6 percent. Glen Lucas, the quarterback of the team, was voted the most valuable player for his excellent all-around play.

Improvement, finally, could be seen in the team's continuous good play and high spirits throughout the season.

Freshman team improves with practice and experience

The freshman basketball team ended its season with an even record of seven wins and seven losses.

In spite of this record, the team made steady improvement as the season progressed. They scored the upset of the season when they defeated league-leading Anderson 37—36. Earlier, Anderson had downed them 45—29.

Besides their win over Anderson, the young Vikings defeated Indian Hill, Glenview, Wyoming, Lockland, Finneytown, and Elmwood Place.

Losses were to Norwood, Anderson, Sycamore, Finneytown, Norwood a second time, Moeller, and Washington.

Freshman forward Carleton Hoyles goes high to snare a rebound for the Vikings.

Wrestling team posts best season ever

The wrestling team had a fine season finishing second in the Southwestern Wrestling Conference. Their impressive over-all record was eleven wins and only one loss. This was due to the fact that there were well-trained boys in each weight group. These seven boys, John Owens, Dan Kemmerling, Eddie Leslie, Sammy Bryant, Terry Saturday, Ron Tooson, and Charlie Gilford qualified in the sectional championships and advanced to the districts. Selected for the All Conference team were: Eddie Leslie, Terry Saturday, Ron Tooson, and Gene Elmlinger. John Owens, Sam Bryant, and Ken Root received honorable mention. The most valuable wrestler was Gene Elmlinger. For most improved, Sammy Bryant was chosen.

Outstanding wrestlers are ROW ONE: J. Owen, K. Root, and S. Bryant. ROW TWO: T. Saturday, R. Tooson, G. Elmlinger, E. Leslie.

Referee Howard Converse holds up two fingers to indicate two points for Greg McKenzie as he makes the takedown on muscular Charles Gilford in an exhibition match.

Swimmers take title

sixth straight time

The boys on the swimming team have a record of which they can be proud—12 wins and only four losses. They are the county champions for the sixth year in a row and are the second best team in the district. Seven new school records were set this year; and two of our boys, Mike Hunley and Ted Hagenschneider, are now district champs for the 200 yard individual medley and for the 50 yard freestyle.

The 1964 record breakers are: Bill Chatfield, Mike Hunley, Bob French, and Ted Hagenschneider for the 50 yard freestyle and for the 100 yard freestyle. Bob French broke the record for the 400 yard freestyle, while Mike Hunley broke the record for the 100 yard breaststroke. The record for the 200 yard freestyle relay was also broken by Dave Meier, Lee Ward, Frank Van Cleef, and Gary Mattioli.

Since many of the boys are returning, we are looking forward to an even better record next year.

Some of the team's outstanding swimmers are: A. Disher, R. French, G. Matteoli, J. Hall, L. Ward.

Swimmer Lee Ward uses weights to strengthen his muscles for that sport.

The members of the boys' swimming team are: ROW ONE—J. Hall, A. Disher, R. French, D. Meier, G. Matteoli, M. Hunley, J. Carstens, C. Peck, B. Sulfsted. ROW TWO—C. Klute, D. Edwards, F. Van Cleef, D. Isaacs, D. Kalmbaugh, B. Wayman, J. Kirst, F. Smith, T. Martin, R. Schwenterly. ROW THREE—E. Hall, A. Hayes, D. Sexton, E. Delk, J. Magella, B. Chatfield, S. Martin, L. Ward, W. Miller, F. Beckman, J. Hendrix, Coach Lagaly.

The members of the gymnastic team are—ROW ONE J. Fey, T. Reno, R. Frietch, L. Hunt, and R. Noyles; ROW TWO—F. Maccioli, coach; T. Esterkamp, J. Cramer, R. Morgan, and C. Haverland.

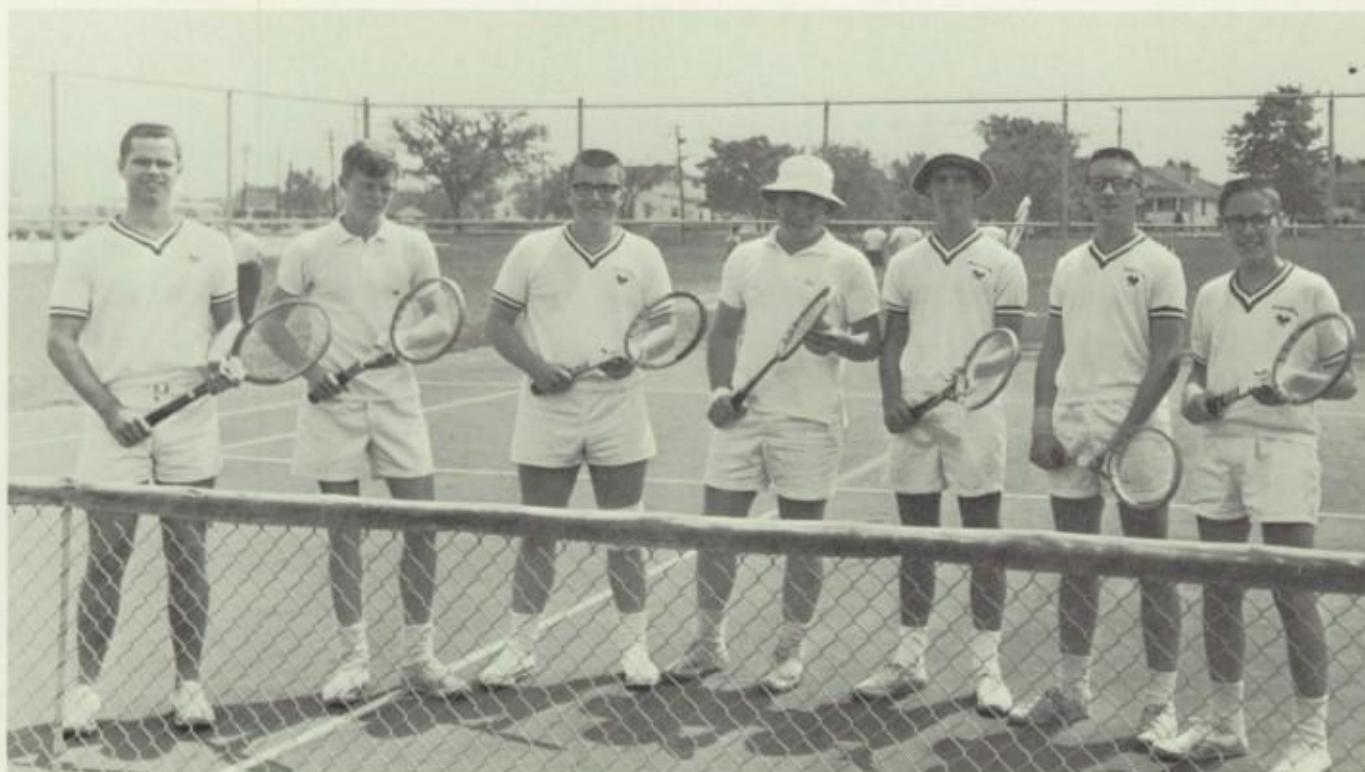

Rick Noyles practices movements on the rings that require strength, skill, and balance.

Gymnastics team is improving greatly

The gymnastics team continued to improve under the coaching of Mr. Maccioli. This year the team had its first interscholastic meet at Woodward. Next year the team, which is making vast progress, will, no doubt, schedule other meets.

Lloyd Hunt, a new boy at Princeton this year, and who is excellent in all phases of gymnastics—floor exercises, parallel bars, and tumbling—was voted most valuable to the team. Terry Esterkamp, who is very good at tumbling, was voted most improved. The better boys on the parallel bars were Roger Morgan, Lloyd Hunt, Rick Noyles, and Jim Cramer. Members skillful on the floor show were Terry Esterkamp, and Lloyd Hunt. Tumblers included Jerry Fey, Terry Reno, Dick Frietch, Lloyd Hunt, Terry Esterkamp, and Chuck Haverland.

Varsity tennis team players are R. Winterrowd, A. Stewart, W. Mitchell, C. Hawley, J. Isaacs, R. Brockmeier, and L. Brockmeier.

Tennis team takes HCL championship again

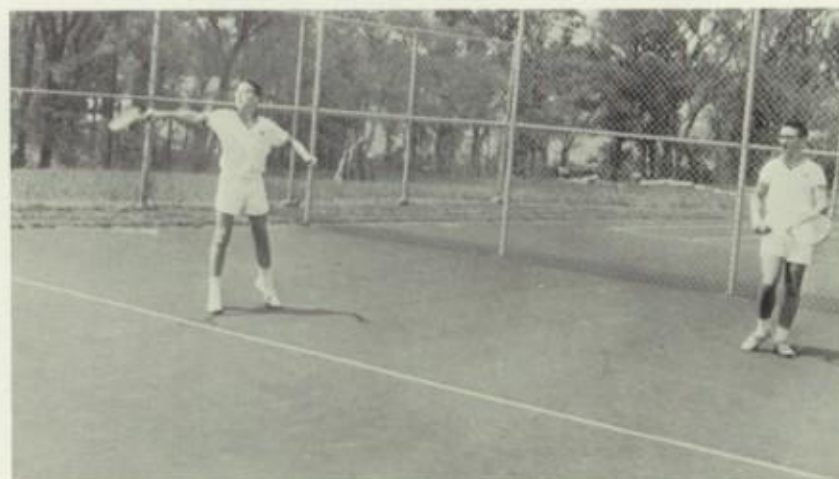

Under the fine coaching of Mr. Gaenge, this year's tennis team made an excellent showing with a record of 13 wins and only two losses. For the third time in five years the Hamilton County championship trophy will proudly be displayed in Princeton's trophy room. Because of the hard work and continuous practice of all the boys, we were able to win the championship in both singles and doubles play. The number one man on our team and in the county was Chick Hawley. Bill Mitchell and Jeff Isaacs made up the winning combination for the doubles championship.

The team won over Hughes, Lemon Monroe, Harrison, Mt. Healthy, Colerain, Moeller, Oak Hills, Talawanda, Mt. Healthy, Colerain, Harrison, Wyoming, and Greenhills.

The two losses were to Anderson and Hamilton Talft.

Jeff Isaacs shows the form that won him respect in the county.

Brothers Louie and Rick Brockmeier, team up for doubles play.

Vikings prove to be a state power

This year Princeton's golf team, under the coaching of Mr. Charles Lambert, proved to be one of the better teams in the entire state of Ohio. The Vikings' record on the regular season was an amazing 17 wins against one loss and one tie. The loss came at the hands of Moeller when the team's number one player, Tom Whitelaw, was ill and could not compete.

The Vikings were first this year in the county league standings, and they were first in the county league golf tournament by a great margin of victory. The team finished second in the Taft Invitational.

At the district golf tournament, the Vikings took another first place and qualified for the state tournament held at Ohio State University. The hopes of all of Cincinnati followed them there.

There on Ohio's difficult course the Vikings finished sixth in the state with a total of 648 strokes. The golfers had a season of which they may be very proud.

The members of the reserve golf team are: G. Lueking, B. Lucas, T. Overbey, and Mr. Grimes, coach.

The golf team includes: Tom Whitelaw, Dan Aston, Dick Sedgewick, and Dan Aston.

Mr. Lambert gazes with admiration at Tom Whitelaw's outstanding golf score.

Track team brings home four championships

Princeton track coach, Mr. Tony Salvato, once again produced an excellent track team. The Viking won a total of four championships: the Hamilton County Track Meet in a field of eight schools, the Princeton Invitation against seven schools, the Hamilton County Relays in competition with twenty-seven schools, and the Country Day Invitational, where twenty-six schools competed. However, the most rewarding achievement for the Vikings, who worked hard all season, was the runner-up position they won in the district track meet at Hamilton Taft High School in Hamilton.

Three boys qualified for the state meet. They were Rodger Saunders in the high hurdles, Ron Tooson in the hundred and the broad jump, and Don Abbott in the shotput and discus.

Ron Tooson, who ran the 220 yard dash, 100 yard dash, 180 low hurdles, broad jumped, and was anchor on the 880 relay, was voted most valuable. At both the HCL Meet and the Country Day Invitational, he won 4 events. Fred Sagester was voted most improved.

Ron Tooson and Don Abbott formed the backbone of this year's team.

Reserve track men are: ROW ONE—M. Craig, D. Jones, M. Williams, C. Jones, and R. Johnson. ROW TWO—Mr. Marshall, assistant coach; J. Turner, P. Kidd, R. Hardrick, C. Gilford, K. Adkins, B. Fulks, and Mr. Salvato, head coach. ROW THREE—J. Percy, manager; C. Powell, D. Lock, S. Frashier, L. Purcell, W. Hicks, and D. Bright.

The track team includes; ROW ONE—H. Bennett, T. Saturday, J. Mahan, R. Petty, C. Mason, J. Sowder, S. Martin, C. Hoyles, and J. Percy, Manager. ROW TWO—Mr. Salvato coach; C. Powell, R. Turnau, S. Frasher, D. Meier, S. Houze, J. Penebaker, R. Too-son, V. Glover, D. Locke, and Mr. Marshall, Coach. ROW THREE—Mr. Wiley, coach; P. Baumann, D. Abbott, F. Sagester, G. McKenzie, B. Parker, and R. Saunders.

ROW ONE—C. Seward, J. Hall, A. Macky, B. Noble, L. Ward, S. Clay, R. Fithen, V. Evans. ROW TWO—Coach Mr. Kirkwood, L. Ramey, D. Hewitt, J.

Cramer, J. Hendrix, G. Hawks, B. Hever, D. Isaacs, D. Wagner, D. Ratliff, R. Blasdel, M. Molen, M. Young, J. Robinson.

Vikings outstanding in county competition

Mr. Kirkwood, now in his eleventh year of coaching high school baseball and in his sixth of coaching at Princeton, guided the Vikings' baseball team, again, to a successful season of play. Their record on the regular season was 12 wins against 5 losses.

The team recorded wins over Lakota, Lockland (twice), Taylor (twice), Finneytown, Greenhills (twice), Colerain, Oak Hills, Harrison, and Little Miami. Their 5 losses were to Norwood, Anderson Sycamore, Hamilton Garfield and Indian Hills.

Dick Hendrix was Princeton's "master on the mound," this year compiling a record of 7 wins against 2 losses. He received plenty of help from Mike Molen, who had a record of 4 wins against 1 loss. Providing the hitting power for the club were Doug Isaacs, who batted .309 on the season, and Billy Noble, who batted .307.

The baseball team was runner-up in the Hamilton County League.

Mike Molen takes a few practice swings as Ron Fithen covers the plate.

Girls' hockey team shows great determination and enthusiasm

The interscholastic girls' hockey team did not have one of its most successful seasons, but even defeat failed to deter their enthusiasm for the sport. They succeeded in tying one and winning two of the six games they played. One of the losses was a heartbreaker, as the girls went down by one point in the last fifty seconds of the game against Hamilton Garfield.

Carolyn Asbury was the high scorer for the team as a result of her fine driving ability.

The team's wins were over Finneytown and Lockland. Losses were to Wyoming, Hamilton Garfield, and Sycamore. Very evenly matched, they tied three to three against the Greenhills girls' team.

Vikings rush to defense of their goal in rugged hockey play.

Girls' interscholastic hockey team was comprised of:
ROW ONE—C. O'Connor, E. Phillips, S. Fuchs, A. Saunders, G. Dykes, P. Byrd, and L. Brandenburg. ROW TWO—D. Ramey, L. Vandever, M. Mendenhall, D.

Frank, E. Garrette, coach Miss Jacobs, J. Rolfs, P. Reid, A. Beatty, E. Phillips. Not shown: C. Asbury, C. McAfee, P. McAfee, L. Garrette, M. French, and P. Bowen.

Volleyball teams show their abilities

The girls '63-'64 volleyball season closed with victorious records. Our experienced varsity team ended its season with a record of two wins and two losses, while our reserve team ended with one defeat compared to three wins.

Outstanding varsity player was Sandy Fuchs. Jeany Hunley was the top scorer for the reserve team. Both girls were backed by many fine team players who showed an abundance of ability and enthusiasm.

Reserve volleyball players are V. Wagner, R. Mays, J. Hunley, L. Lockard, D. Frank, and L. Garrette.

Girls' varsity basketball team members are: ROW ONE—P. Byrd; J. Erp; L. Vandever; S. Fuchs, capt.; L. Brandenburg; C. Marple; K. Marshall. ROW TWO—S. Mattingly, M. Moffet, P. Bowen, A. Saunders,

C. O'Connor, and Miss Jacobs, coach. Not shown: P. Rohlf, C. McAfee, P. Linson, E. Phillips, and S. Brockman.

Basketball teams gain experience

Both the varsity and the reserve girls' basketball teams have suffered tough defeats this year. The varsity team met seven losses against one win. The reserve team held a similar record with six losses and one win.

Many of the games were close, with the girls losing by only a few points. However, the girls do not intend to let defeat hurt their enthusiasm. They hope for a better season next year.

Miss Jacobs and Sandy Fuchs admire the trophy won by Sandy as the outstanding girl athlete of the year.

Swimming team dives in for a practice session.

Swimming and archery teams make progress

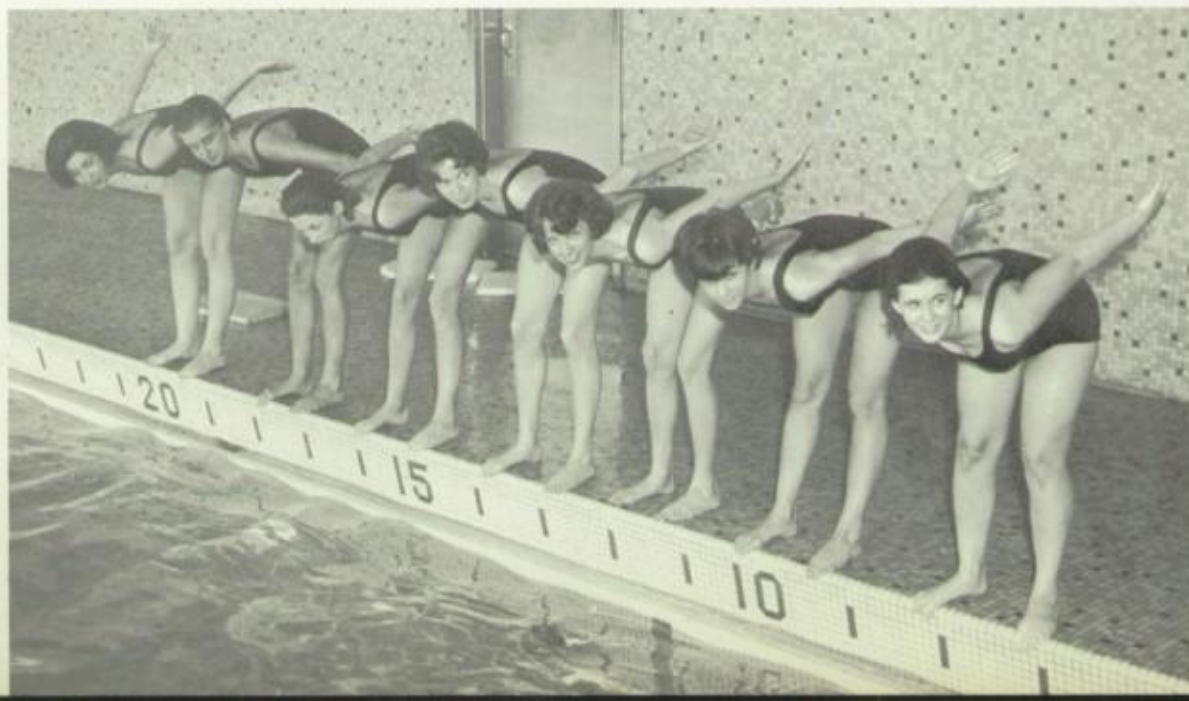

The girls' swimming team ended its season with one win and three losses. Joan Blevins was the top diver, while Jenny Edmonds, Pat Marks, and Jenny Hunley led in the competitive swimming events.

Although the archery team won no meets, they did show much skill and improvement; and the hopes for a better record for next year are high. Robert Osgood was the outstanding boy archer, while Dianne Ramey led the scoring on the girls' team.

Members of the archery team are: D. Ramey, J. Humphrey, M. Jacobs, D. Kilby.

The girls' swimming team includes: K. Cole, J. Edmonds, J. Blevins, J. Hunley, C. Marshall, P. Marks, and N. Hille.

The girls' softball team includes: ROW ONE—E. Phillips, A. Beatty, C. Glenn, C. O'Connor, L. Vandev eer, J. Erp, R. Johnson, and Miss Jacobs.

ROW TWO—P. Reid, K. Ogletree, V. Wagner, J. Shivers, E. Holliday, and L. Donley.

Girls end tough season of softball and tennis

The girls' softball team, although eager and enthusiastic, did not have a very successful season this year, finishing with a record of one win and four losses. They played the game a new way, for the first time, playing ten girls instead of the usual nine. The single victory was over Greenhills. The losses were to Colerain, Wyoming, Hamilton Garfield, and to Harrison.

A first for Princeton this year was the Girls' Tennis team composed of seven girls. They lost all of the meets despite much effort and hard work.

Girls' interscholastic varsity tennis team: S. Hunt, S. Mattingly, M. Mendenhall, P. Bowen, L. Vandev eer, G. Brandenburg, and B. Parker.

The members of the girls' track team are: E. Phillips, R. Johnson, J. Erp, D. Swartz, L. Vandevier, L. Lockard, V. Wagner, V.

Cramer, Miss Jacobs, A. Saunders, E. Garrette, C. O'Conner, J. Hunley, P. Reid, K. Marshall, A. Beatty.

First girls' track team very successful

Members of the girls' bowling team include: ROW ONE:—P. Rohlf, and C. Jenner. ROW TWO—S. Dykes, G. Dykes, and D. Graves.

Although this is the first year girls' track has been offered here, the girls had a very good season. In a triangular meet with Wyoming and Indian Hills, they placed second; and in their invitational meet, involving six schools, they came in fourth. The track events include the hundred and the fifty yard dashes, the running and the standing broad jump, the seventy yard hurdles, cross country, the four-forty relays, the running high jump, the shot put, and the discus.

Led by high scoring Gayle Dykes, the girls' bowling team had a very successful season of fun and skill.

Intramurals gain in popularity

The Princeton High School physical education offices began a complete intramural program for both boys and girls this year.

The boys were offered a variety of sports: volleyball, track, swimming, tennis, ping-pong and golf. A great number of them took part in the program.

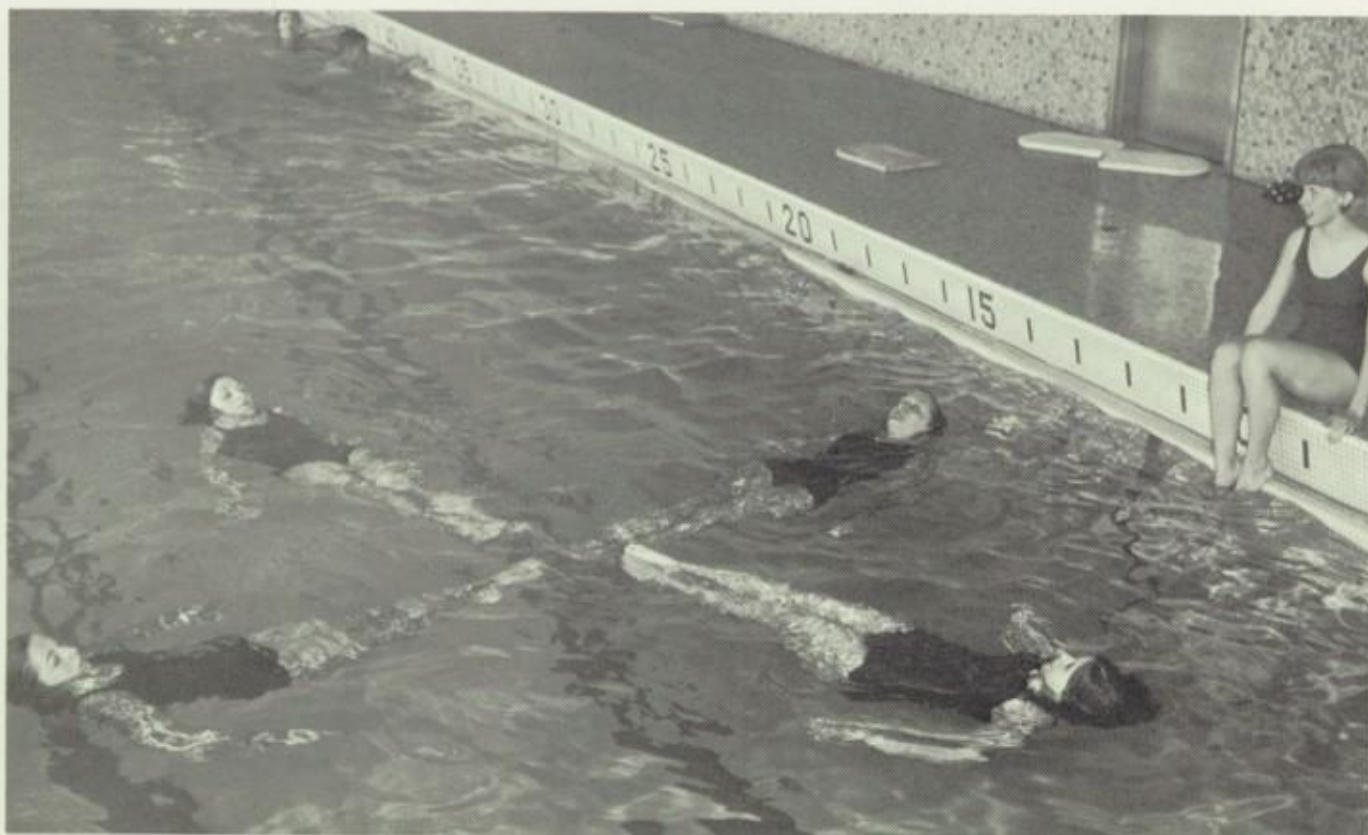

Girls were even more active, participating in almost every sport for which there was an interscholastic team. They saw action in intramural volleyball, basketball, hockey, softball, tennis archery, swimming, ping-pong, and track.

One girls' intramural team, the "Vikings' Greatest Juniors," won intramural championships in basketball, volleyball, softball and track.

Everybody got into the act with the opening of the intramural volleyball tournaments. Here two sophomore teams battle for the title.

Swimming was also an interesting sport for the girls within the intramural athletic program. Here they form a starfish, showing that they are also sea-lovers. Members of the Sailfin Club are: J. Blevins, N. Malott, J. Edmonds, N. Hille, and L. Gale.

The Junior-Senior Prom turned out to be the most successful prom in Princeton's history. The evening's agenda consisted of the welcome by Senior Class President Gary Matteoli, the crowning of the King and Queen and the Prince and Princess, and the presentation of the court as the Barney Rapp Orchestra played background music.

Barney Rapp held the romantic atmosphere throughout the evening with his band's mellow sounds.

year's activities

The Queen and her court look on as Barney Rapp plays sweet music and the Freshman Class serves cool drinks and refreshing hors d'oeuvres. The occasion was one of pomp and success.

The entire assembly joins the Royal Court in the Royal Dance following the crowning.

For Queen Barbara Streight and King Phil Baumann, the crowning is one of the heights of their high school careers.

Graduation marks

Twelve years of striving—of hard work, of fun, of friendship—reach their peak at graduation. This is the magic moment that takes on ever greater importance as each year of high school passes, the magic moment when young men and women hold in their hands the thin piece of parchment that testifies they are high school graduates.

Whether the graduate proceeds to advanced study or whether he takes his place immediately in the world of business and industry, his day of graduation remains the high point in his young life.

It's a proud moment as graduate shows diploma to parents.

Many thanks, also, to Mr. and Mrs. George Martin for prompt service on pictures. Thanks also go to Mr. Carl Vorpe, American Yearbook Company representative, for his assistance and to the American Yearbook Company for adjusting deadline schedules so that the band's trip to New York could be carried in this year's STUDENT PRINCE.

Band wins praise for World's Fair performances

Words of praise were many and varied after the band's performances in the Tiparillo and the United States pavilions on June 10 at the New York World's Fair. One spectator said simply, "Great!" Another commented, "This is the first high school band I've heard that doesn't sound like a high school band."

Praise and personal satisfaction over a job well done topped off months of planning and fund raising which helped the band carry Princeton's name to Gotham.

World's Fair, big city

Always an intriguing spot for tourists, New York City takes on an added appeal by reason of the World's Fair.

Sprawling over 646 acres on spacious Flushing Meadows, the World's Fair boasts more than 500 million dollars worth of exhibits for eager tourists.

Two days were hardly enough to view the myriad exhibits in the industrial, international, federal-state, transportation, and lake-area sections. But band members did their best to see the most exhibits possible—from the marvelous automotive

New York City itself offered exciting sights—towering office buildings, restful Central Park, cultural Lincoln Center, art-laden Greenwich Village, sparkling Times Square.

Arch bearers at graduation typify the goal achieved by modern Vikings in Princeton's up-to-date land of Valhalla.

They provide an appropriate door through which graduates step forth into an adult world, into a land of responsibility for which Princeton has tried to prepare them.

Significantly, these junior arch bearers will, too, take their place of honor as the graduates of 1965.

And in each succeeding cycle, one year's arch bearers will step forth as the next year's graduates, perpetually sending forth a column of young men and women to carry into the world the Viking ideal of hard work and of devotion to duty.
